Impact of Escalating Tensions in the Middle East on the Company

In response to recent media coverage regarding supply delays for housing fixtures and materials and related price movements amid escalating tensions in the Middle East, robot home Inc. (the Company) hereby announces its assessment of the current situation and the potential impact on its business results.

1. Current situation

The recent escalation of tensions in the Middle East has caused crude oil prices to surge and has disrupted global supply chains primarily for petrochemical products. In the real estate sector, supply chains for certain construction materials and housing fixtures have grown unstable, and developments such as delivery rescheduling and price revisions are becoming increasingly evident.

2. Impact on the Company's business results and operations

Although minor adjustments to construction schedules may arise for certain projects, the Company maintains ongoing communication with its suppliers for the smooth procurement of materials, and currently estimates the impact on business results to be limited. In addition to accumulating inventory during normal operating conditions through advance ordering, the Company minimizes supply risks through the diversification of procurement channels. The Company has further established a flexible response system that enables the rapid sourcing of alternative products as circumstances require, drawing on the experience of housing fixture supply disruptions during the COVID-19 pandemic. By pursuing these initiatives across multiple fronts, the Company will direct its utmost efforts toward ensuring a stable and continuous supply of new properties.

3. Future outlook

The Company will continue to closely monitor developments in the Middle East and broader market trends, assessing the situation on a continuous basis and responding appropriately as circumstances evolve. Should any events that could have a material impact on its business activities or financial results arise, the Company will disclose such information promptly and in a timely manner.
