I. Basic Views on Corporate Governance, Capital Structure, Corporate Attributes, and Other Key Information

1. Basic Views

Our group positions corporate governance as a critical management issue. While striving to enhance corporate value, our fundamental policy is to establish an optimal management system that ensures efficiency, transparency, and soundness in management. This is to gain the trust of stakeholders, including shareholders, customers, business partners, local communities, and employees.

Reasons for Non-compliance with the Principles of the Corporate Governance Code

The company fully implements all principles of the Corporate Governance Code.

Disclosure Based on each Principle of the Corporate Governance Code

[Principle 1-4]

Our company's board of directors reviews the significance of holding strategically held shares at least once a year.

Specifically, we evaluate the rationality of holding each stock from the perspective of whether the benefits and risks associated with holding each stock are commensurate with the cost of capital, and determine whether it is appropriate. In principle, we have a policy to reduce stocks that are determined to be insufficient to justify the cost of capital. At the same time, in order to achieve our company's sustainable growth, we make careful decisions by comprehensively taking into account the necessity of our business and financial strategies, as well as business relationships with business partners.

In addition, our internal regulations clearly define the authority to exercise voting rights regarding strategically held shares. We make decisions on each individual proposal based on whether it will contribute to the sustainable growth of our company and the investee companies and to the improvement of shareholder value in the medium to long term.

We will vote against proposals that we determine will have a significant adverse effect on our business activities.

[Principle 1-7]

The company conducts transactions with officers and major shareholders based on conditions that have a certain level of rationality, such as market prices and comparisons with other companies.

We confirm the presence of related party transactions with officers at least once a year. If such transactions occur, the Board of Directors verifies their economic rationality and approves them.

[Supplementary Principle 2-4-1]

The company is committed to hiring and promoting individuals regardless of gender, nationality, or other attributes.

Therefore, we aim to create a workplace environment where diverse employees can fully utilize their abilities.

We continue to secure talent such as women, foreigners, and mid-career hires, and aim to increase the ratio of these individuals in managerial positions to over 15% by fiscal year 2030 (from 11.3% in fiscal year 2024).

- Board policies and procedures in determining the remuneration of the senior management and directors

The company has established the following policy for the remuneration of executive officers and directors (excluding directors who are audit and supervisory committee members):

[Basic Policy]

In principle, decisions regarding individual remuneration for directors will be delegated to a nomination and remuneration committee primarily composed of independent outside directors, and a process will be followed to ensure transparency and objectivity in the procedures for determining executive remuneration.

The remuneration design provides incentives for short-term performance based on business plans and long-term corporate value enhancement based on the mid-term management plan.

The remuneration amounts for each position are set at levels that can attract and retain excellent personnel, referencing similar companies.

Based on the above policy, our Board of Directors has delegated the decision-making regarding remuneration for senior management and directors (excluding directors who are audit and supervisory committee members) to the Nomination and Remuneration Committee, which is primarily composed of independent outside directors.

Remuneration for outside directors (excluding directors who are audit and supervisory committee members) will consist of fixed remuneration only. In addition, the range of total remuneration for directors who are audit and supervisory committee members is resolved at the General Meeting of Shareholders, and the basic remuneration for directors who are audit and supervisory committee members is determined within that range, taking into consideration whether they are full-time or part-time, the division of duties, etc.

- Policy for Selecting Executive Officers and Nominating Director Candidates

The selection of executive officers and the nomination of directors (excluding directors who are audit and supervisory committee members) are based on a comprehensive consideration of each candidate's abilities, qualities, and achievements. For the nomination of outside directors, we also consider individuals who can provide objective opinions. The nomination of director candidates who are audit and supervisory committee members is based on a comprehensive consideration of their ability to appropriately supervise the execution of duties by directors (excluding directors who are audit and supervisory committee members), prevent violations of laws and regulations or the Articles of Incorporation, and contribute to ensuring the soundness of management from a neutral and objective perspective.

• Procedures Related to the Above Policies

The Company will establish a Nomination and Remuneration Committee, mainly composed of independent outside directors, to select candidates for directors and to consider the appropriateness of the remuneration system for directors (excluding directors who are audit and supervisory committee members).

The selection of director candidates who are not audit and supervisory committee members is decided by the Board of Directors based on the recommendations of the Nomination and Remuneration Committee.

The selection of director candidates who are audit and supervisory committee members is decided by the Board of Directors based on the recommendations of the Nomination and Remuneration Committee and the consent of the Audit and Supervisory Committee.

We also explain the reasons for the selection and nomination of each director candidate in the proposal for the election of directors. The decision on the remuneration of executive officers and directors (excluding directors who are audit and supervisory committee members) is delegated to the Nomination and Remuneration Committee.

Action to Implement Management That Is Conscious of Cost of Capital and Stock Price

Date of Disclosure Update	June 20, 2025

Explanation of Actions

In our "Medium-term Management Plan 2026 - 1st STAGE for the Next 10 Years" (FY2025 - FY2027), we have positioned ROE and ROIC as key indicators for measuring capital efficiency and have set targets for the final year of ROE: 8% or more, and ROIC: 6% or more.

The cost of shareholders' equity and WACC are calculated using a CAPM-based formula that takes into account the beta values and DER of similar listed companies, and are assumed to be 8% and 6%, respectively.

ROIC is managed by business, and by creating and utilizing ROIC trees and capital cost management roadmaps, we are visualizing KPIs at the field level and promoting awareness among employees. This will steadily accelerate growth, improve profitability, realize an optimal capital structure, and strengthen our management foundation.

Furthermore, we aim to improve our PBR by increasing our awareness of the company through IR activities such as dialogue with shareholders and investors by directors or executive management and enhancing disclosure information.

In addition, starting from the fiscal year ending March 2025, we will be adopting non-financial indicators (CO2 reduction, employee engagement) in addition to the management indicators set out in the medium-term management plan (EBITDA, ROE, ROIC) as indicators for performance-linked compensation for directors, and will be linking these with the incentives of executive directors and corporate officers.

Our efforts to increase corporate value are disclosed at the following URL.

Supplementary Explanation for Applicable Items

The compensation for our directors (excluding directors who are audit and supervisory committee members) consists of monetary compensation (fixed compensation, short-term performance-linked compensation) and non-monetary compensation (medium-term performance-linked compensation, long-term incentive compensation). Note that the compensation for outside directors is limited to fixed compensation only.

The amounts for both monetary and non-monetary compensation are calculated comprehensively, considering the position, achievement rate of performance targets, department evaluation, market environment, and social conditions.

Additionally, the Nomination and Compensation Committee reviews the balance between monetary and non-monetary compensation and compares it with companies in the same industry and of similar size to determine the payment ratios for each type of compensation.

The indicators for performance-linked compensation are set to clearly evaluate the performance of each director, considering broad factors such as changes in business environment and risks related to equity-method affiliates. For short-term performance-linked compensation (monetary compensation), the indicators are EBITDA and ROIC (Return on Invested Capital) from the consolidated business plan. For medium-term performance-linked compensation (non-monetary compensation), the indicators are EBITDA, ROE (Return on Equity), CO2 reduction, and employee engagement index from the medium-term management plan. Additionally, stock compensation as a long-term incentive is granted annually based on the position.

Performance-linked compensation is set with a variable range of 0% to 150% depending on the achievement of target values for each indicator.

The proportion of variable compensation in the total individual compensation ranges from 10% to 39%, depending on performance-linked compensation. The proportion of non-monetary compensation in the total individual compensation ranges from 10% to 15%.

Policy on Determining Remuneration Amounts and Calculation Methods

Established

Disclosure of Policy on Determining Remuneration Amounts and Calculation Methods

Policy for Determining Individual Compensation for Directors (excluding Directors who are Audit and Supervisory Committee Members)

1. Basic Policy

The company positions executive compensation as an important means to achieve sustainable growth, enhance medium- to long-term corporate value, and pursue sustainability. Compensation is determined based on the following policies through a transparent and fair process:

- In principle, decisions regarding individual compensation for directors are delegated to the Nomination and Compensation Committee, which mainly consists of outside directors, ensuring transparency and objectivity in the executive compensation decision process.

- The design of compensation is intended to provide incentives for short-term performance based on business plans and medium- to long-term corporate value enhancement based on the medium-term management plan.

- The compensation amounts for each position are set at levels that can secure and retain excellent talent, referencing similar companies.

2. Compensation Structure

The compensation for our directors consists of monetary compensation (fixed compensation, short-term performance-linked compensation) and non-monetary compensation (medium-term performance-linked compensation, long-term incentive compensation). Note that the compensation for outside directors consists only of fixed compensation.

Based on the above basic policy, the amounts of monetary and non-monetary compensation are calculated comprehensively considering the position, achievement rate of performance targets, department evaluation, market environment, social conditions, etc.

Additionally, the Nomination and Compensation Committee compares and examines the payment ratios of each compensation, considering the balance between monetary and non-monetary compensation, and comparing with peer companies and companies of similar size.

3. Compensation Levels

Based on data from external research agencies on executive compensation, the median level considering the size (sales, number of employees, market capitalization, etc.) of listed and unlisted companies is used as a benchmark, and compensation is set for each position.

4. Fixed Compensation

The fixed compensation for directors corresponds to monetary compensation (a fixed amount paid monthly). Revisions to fixed compensation are determined by considering changes in business scale, compensation level trends, etc., primarily when the position or role changes.

5. Variable Compensation

The indicators for performance-linked compensation are set to clearly evaluate the performance of each director, considering broad factors such as changes in business environment factors and risks related to the operation of equity-method affiliates. For short-term performance-linked compensation (monetary compensation), the indicators are EBITDA and ROIC (Return on Invested Capital) based on the consolidated business plan. For medium-term performance-linked compensation (non-monetary compensation), the indicators are EBITDA, ROE (Return on Equity), CO2 reduction, and employee engagement coefficient based on the medium-term management plan. Additionally, stock compensation as a long-term incentive is granted annually according to the position.

Performance-linked compensation is set with a variable range of 0% to 150% depending on the achievement status of each indicator's target values.

The proportion of variable compensation in the total individual compensation ranges from 10% to 39%, depending on performance-linked compensation.

The proportion of non-monetary compensation in the total individual compensation ranges from 10% to 15%.

6. Policy for Determining the Timing or Conditions for Granting Compensation to Directors

The conditions for compensation for our directors are determined annually in June. Short-term performance-linked compensation and long-term incentive compensation (non-monetary compensation) are granted after the annual general meeting of shareholders in June. Medium-term performance-linked compensation (non-monetary compensation) is granted after the general meeting of shareholders in June of the fiscal year following the final year of the medium-term management plan. Non-monetary compensation is subject to transfer restrictions until resignation.

1) Matters Related to the Function of Business Execution The Board of Directors is responsible for making important decisions regarding business execution and generally meets once a month. Additionally, to thoroughly discuss important management issues, management meetings are held at least once a month with the participation of executive officers in addition to the board members. Audit and Supervisory Committee meetings and liaison meetings, attended by directors who are Audit and Supervisory Committee members, are also held at least once a month.

Our company has established committees such as the Compliance Committee and the Credit Committee to review important issues. We have also set up a management monitoring system through audits by the Audit and Supervisory Committee, which includes two outside directors.

The methods and results of audits conducted according to the audit plan established by the Audit and Supervisory Committee are reported. Reports on the status of operations are received from each department head, and visits to branches, factories, and affiliated companies are conducted as necessary. Efforts are made to strengthen cooperation between the Audit and Supervisory Committee, the accounting auditor, and the internal audit department. A secretariat for the Audit and Supervisory Committee has been established to support its duties.

External audits are conducted by Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu LLC, and the certified public accountants responsible for our company's accounting audits are as follows:

(3) Summary of the Content of Limited Liability Contracts Non-executive directors have entered into contracts to limit their liability for damages under Article 423, Paragraph 1 of the Companies Act, based on the provisions of Article 427, Paragraph 1 of the same Act. The limit of liability for damages under these contracts is the amount stipulated by law. This limitation of liability is only recognized when the non-executive director has acted in good faith and without gross negligence in the performance of their duties that caused the liability.

3. Reasons for Adoption of Current Corporate Governance System

The company has long been committed to enhancing corporate governance to improve long-term corporate value by maintaining a majority of outside directors and promoting the separation of business execution and supervision. As part of this effort, we transitioned to a company with an Audit and Supervisory Committee upon approval at our 10th Annual General Meeting of Shareholders held on June 21, 2024. This transition aims to strengthen the supervisory function and expedite decision-making by allowing the Board of Directors to delegate broad decision-making authority on business execution to directors while including Audit and Supervisory Committee members in the Board of Directors.

Furthermore, we aim to further strengthen our internal control system by realizing comprehensive organizational audits by the Audit and Supervisory Committee. To achieve both the acceleration of decision-making and the rationalization and efficiency of business execution while strengthening the supervisory function, we have introduced an executive officer system and rationalized management through management meetings. We have also appointed outside directors to the Board of Directors to strengthen the management risk management system and ensure management transparency. Additionally, by adopting the Audit and Supervisory Committee system and appointing two out of three directors who are Audit and Supervisory Committee members as outside directors, we have established a system that allows for neutral and objective management oversight of our company's decision-making on management and business execution.
