In recent years, various social issues have become more serious, such as environmental problems, including climate change on a global scale, energy and resource shortages due to industrialization, widening disparities such as the gap between the rich and the poor, and the threat of new infectious diseases. As the Group has a responsibility to fill for the sustainability of society, it regards sustainability as one of the most important initiatives in its management strategy. In order to further evolve sustainability management, the Group has established a Sustainability Committee. This committee shall identify important non-financial assets and set targets for management to determine medium- to long-term management strategies. In addition, by incorporating key sustainability-related indicators, such as climate change and human resource diversity, into the non-financial medium-term management plan, the Group has formulated a sustainability action plan that is integrated with its business plan.

Under this sustainability system, the Group has expressed its support for the Task Force on Climate Related Financial Disclosures (TCFD) and are considering “analysis of climate-related risks and opportunities” and “scenario analysis” based on the TCFD recommendations, and are actively promoting initiatives and information disclosure in line with the TCFD. The Company is also a member of the Responsible Business Alliance (RBA) and is working to carry out its business responsibly in accordance with the RBA's Code of Conduct (promoting its own CSR activities and requesting suppliers to do so). In addition, the Group believes that there is an urgent need to further deepen sustainability management and clearly set out policies, and has set “Sustainability Materiality” as a particularly important theme for sustainability.

“Sustainability Materiality” consists of the following three domains, with 11 elements in each domain.

As a result of these IP activities, in fiscal year 2024, approximately 530 patent applications were published in Japan, approximately 670 patent applications were published in the United States, and approximately 660 patent applications were registered.
