Google Gemini Collaboration Contest Series Launches

Second Edition: "#AI and Summer Research" Theme Opens for Submissions

The collaborative posting contest "#AIとやってみた(AI Challenge)" between note and Google Gemini has become a series. Due to popular response, we will be hosting monthly contests with changing themes.

This contest is held as a platform for sharing Gemini usage methods and experiences. The purpose is to create opportunities to make AI a more accessible creative partner. The first edition "#AIとやってみた(AI Challenge)" held in June received over 24,000 submissions featuring AI usage methods and unique experience stories.

Going forward, under the title "#AIと〇〇(AI and 〇〇)," we will deliver monthly themes aligned with seasons and trends. Starting today, August 4th, the second edition "#AIと自由研究(AI and Summer Research)" begins, perfect for summer vacation. We welcome works where parents and children collaborate, as well as projects that captivate adults. Please take on the challenge of unique summer research using AI.

note will continue to provide opportunities for more people to experience the joy and possibilities of creating together with AI.

Posting Contest "#AIとやってみた (AI Challenge)" Overview

This contest seeks real AI usage methods and experience stories. Any form of AI utilization is welcome, including things you researched or tried with Google's AI, and how it changed your life. Please submit with free ideas aligned with the monthly changing themes.
