RHEON AUTOMATIC MACHINERY CO., LTD. (the “Company”) hereby announces that it has made a revision to its full-year consolidated financial results forecast for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2026, announced on May 14, 2025. The details of this revision are described below.

Furthermore, the Company also announces that, at a meeting of the Board of Directors held on November 12, 2025, it resolved to pay dividends of surplus (interim dividend) with a record date of September 30, 2025, and that it has made a revision to its year-end dividend forecast for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2026.

(Reason for Revision)

Owing to strong sales of machinery in the United States and Asia and a weak Japanese yen against the dollar, the Company’s net sales, ordinary profit, and profit attributable to owners of parent for the six months ended September 30, 2025, have exceeded the Company’s initial forecasts.

Owing to the expectation that the strong sales in the food processing machinery manufacturing and sales business will continue, the Company has also revised its full-year consolidated results forecast for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2026.

(Reason for Dividends of Surplus and Revision to Year-End Dividend Forecast)

The Company considers returning profits to shareholders as one of the most important management policies. The Company's basic policy is to maintain or increase dividends to shareholders in a progressive manner, aiming for a consolidated payout ratio of 40% or more and stable dividends during the period of this medium-term management plan (from the fiscal year ending March 31, 2026 to the fiscal year ending March 31, 2028) while comprehensively taking into account, among other factors, retaining internal reserves for future business expansion.

Based on the aforementioned policy, the Company has decided to increase its interim dividend by 3 yen per share, resulting in a figure of 27 yen per share. Furthermore, based on the revision to the financial results forecast announced above, the Company has revised its expected year-end dividend upward by 3 yen per share, resulting in a year-end dividend of 27 yen per share and a total annual dividend of 54 yen per share.

(Note) The forecast figures provided above are estimates based on the information available to the Company as of the time of writing. The actual results may differ from these forecasts depending on a variety of factors.
