1. Trade name, etc. of parent company, controlling shareholder (excluding parent company) or other affiliated company

2. Positioning of the Company in the corporate group centering on the parent company, etc. and the relationships between other listed companies and the parent company, etc.

Toyota Motor Corporation (“Toyota”), whose main business is the manufacture and sale of automobiles, owns 24.3% of the Company's voting rights. The Company supplies automotive parts, machine tools and other products to the Toyota Group (the “Group”), which accounted for 39.0% of the Company's consolidated revenue in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2025. Because of the high percentage of our revenue to the Group, our business performance may be affected by the Group's sales trends and other factors.

As is the case with other business partners, the terms and conditions of transactions with Toyota are determined through price negotiations each fiscal year. In addition, since the Company conducts a wide range of transactions with automobile manufacturers other than Toyota, the Company conducts its business activities based on its own management strategy, and the Company recognizes that a certain degree of independence from Toyota is ensured.
