(1) Business Characteristics

a. Pricing

Since its establishment in October 1994, the Group, as a company specializing in the maintenance of elevators and other equipment, has been providing high-quality maintenance services to ensure that everyone can use elevators with peace of mind under the management philosophies of "Safety above anything else," "No cutting corners even when others don't see it," and "Building on trust."

At the time of the establishment of the Company, in the elevator maintenance industry, it was common for elevator manufacturers to maintain only their own products through their own maintenance companies or affiliated maintenance companies. This has limited competition regarding prices and service offerings.

As an independent maintenance company, the Group provides services to its customers at market-competitive prices, free from manufacturer-led pricing.

b. Ability to support models made by major Japanese manufacturers

The Group mainly provides maintenance and repair services for models manufactured by major Japanese manufacturers, including Mitsubishi Electric Building Solutions Corporation, Hitachi Building Systems Co., Ltd., Toshiba Elevator and Building Systems Corporation, Nippon Otis Elevator Company, and Fujitec Co., Ltd.

As an independent maintenance company, we believe that the Group's strength lies in the fact that we have the technical capabilities and technical personnel to handle models manufactured by various companies.

c. Nationwide network of offices for quick response

The Group operates nationwide, mainly in the Tokyo metropolitan area (Tokyo, Kanagawa, Chiba, and Saitama prefectures), and has established a network of offices with the goal of reaching the customer site within 30 minutes of being contacted in the event of a life-threatening emergency.

d. Providing total services for maintenance and repair work and modernization work

When an elevator deteriorates over time after installation, or when it no longer meets the needs of the times due to outdated equipment, modernization of the control panel, hoisting machine, and other major equipment will enable the elevator to be used efficiently for a longer period. The Group strives to improve the quality of our services by offering comprehensive proposals, including maintenance services after modernization.

As for escalators, we focus on maintenance and repair services for escalators made by major domestic manufacturers, performing maintenance and inspections in principle once a month and periodic inspections once a year as specified by Building Standards Act.

(2) Characteristics of specific products, goods, or services

The Group operates on a single segment, the maintenance business, and does not disclose business segments. The business activities of the Group are as follows

(Maintenance and repair services)

Stairs, escalators, and elevators are the most common means of vertical mobility in society, but in today's society, where buildings are becoming taller and taller, elevators and escalators are positioned as very useful means of vertical mobility.

On the other hand, elevators, like airplanes and automobiles, are considered vehicles that, if not properly maintained and operated, may endanger the users due to "unintended car movement (an event in which the elevator runs with the doors open)," "lock-in failure," "brake failure," and other reasons.

The Group provides maintenance and repair services for elevators and other equipment, placing the highest priority on the safety of users.

a. Description of maintenance and repair services

As a rule, elevators and escalators must be maintained and inspected once a month and periodically inspected once a year as required by the Building Standards Act.

The Group defines maintenance and repair services as follows

Maintenance services	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Legal inspections as stipulated in the Building Standards Act (Maintenance and inspection) • Cleaning, lubrication, adjustment, replenishment, and replacement of consumables (Note 1), etc. • Investigate whether there are any abnormalities or defects related to damage, deformation, wear, corrosion, noise generation, etc., of elevators, etc., and determine whether maintenance and other measures are necessary (including remote monitoring and remote inspection (Note 2)).
Repair services	Replacement or repair of deteriorated parts, etc., based on reasonable judgment based on inspection results. Depending on the nature of the contract, this may be done for a fee (repair sales) or free of charge.

(Notes) 1. Consumables: Light bulbs, various fuses, screws and nuts, various relay lead wires, etc. in elevators.

(Notes) 2. Remote monitoring: Remote monitoring refers to the use of communication lines at the Group's control center to constantly monitor elevators for abnormalities and malfunctions, as well as to direct communication with the control center via intercom inside the elevator if a person is trapped inside the elevator, and to monitor conditions such as "trapped failure" and "power failure."

Remote inspection: In addition to "remote monitoring," remote inspection involves inspecting, via communication lines or other means, the operating status of elevators and the normal or abnormal operational conditions of each model, focusing on areas necessary for elevator operation.

b. Type of contract

The Group offers two types of contracts: Full Maintenance Contracts (FM Contracts) and Inspection Contracts (POG Contracts).

Contracts are generally for a period of one year, and we continue to provide services and prices that meet the needs of our clients.

Contract Type	Summary of Contract
FM Contracts	A contract that provides for periodic maintenance and inspection of equipment and devices, as well as replacement and repair of deteriorated parts based on reasonable judgments based on inspection results.
POG Contracts	POG stands for "Parts, Oil, and Grease," and this contract only covers periodic maintenance and inspection of equipment and devices and does not include replacement or repair of deteriorated parts.

c. Policy on services for maintenance and repair work

- (i) The Group conducts inspections of items specified in Building Standards Act (legal inspections) at our Inspection Section, which is independent of the technical personnel who perform routine maintenance and inspections. At the same time, the Group positions inspection work as a quality audit of maintenance and inspections, and strives to maintain and improve service quality.
- (ii) Maintenance and inspection manuals based on the Common Specifications for Building Maintenance Services (Note 1) and manufacturers' instruction manuals
Based on the common specifications for building maintenance work, the Group has developed its own manuals for maintenance work on elevators (machine room-less (Note 2), rope-type, and hydraulic) and escalators.
- (iii) Inspection Check Sheet
In performing maintenance work, check sheets linked to manuals are used to prevent inspection omissions.
- (iv) Sharing and utilization of experience cases
Parts replacement procedures and past failure cases experienced in the field are shared in the form of "adjustment guidelines" and "failure case reports" to improve the accuracy of inspections and parts replacement work.
- (v) Report of inspection results and inspections
We prepare and issue "Periodic Inspection Reports," "Maintenance and Construction Work Reports," and "Remote Inspection Reports" for each of the annual periodic inspection, regular manned inspection, and remote inspection.
- (vi) When replacement or repair of deteriorated parts is required as a result of an inspection, in principle, the Company will use genuine parts from the manufacturer and other parts, always putting safety first.

- (Notes) 1. Specifications of work standards for periodic inspections, daily inspections, maintenance, operation and monitoring of buildings established by the Ministry of Land, Infrastructure, Transport and Tourism.
- 2. Machine room-less elevators are classified as rope-type elevators, which do not have a machine room and all elevator equipment is housed in the hoistway.

d. Control Center

The Group's control center monitors elevator conditions 24 hours a day, 365 days a year to ensure prompt response to any problems that may occur.

Control Center Functions

Management through "PRIME"	The Control Center uses the Group's remote inspection service, "PRIME," to manage remote diagnostics and monitoring operations. PRIME constantly monitors the condition of elevators and ensures a prompt response in the event of any abnormalities.
Management using location information	The control center constantly manages the location and status of the technical personnel, making it possible to dispatch technical personnel in an emergency (while simultaneously transmitting details of the elevator's malfunction) and to centrally manage reports from the technical personnel.
Customer support by telephone line	Direct calls are made to and from passengers in the elevator. Our specialized staff are always on standby and can contact passengers directly by phone from inside the elevator to assess the situation and provide assistance.

e. Remote Inspection Service "PRIME"

This is a remote inspection service developed originally by the Group. With "PRIME," it is possible to predict abnormalities through automatic diagnostic operation, and with internet connection we can remotely monitor, identify problems in advance, and perform maintenance. We have acquired patents for the various technologies used in PRIME, and they make a significant contribution to the detailed assessment of conditions and prompt response that are essential for elevator maintenance.

In addition, we believe that the Group's technological capability to adapt "PRIME" to each model of major Japanese manufacturers is one of its strengths.

- (Note) There are some models, such as older models that do not use a circuit board and the latest elevators that have only recently been installed, for which we are unable to install "PRIME". Instead of "PRIME," we are installing "PRIME Lite," which excludes remote diagnostic functions.

(Modernization services)

In maintenance and repair services, maintenance, inspection, replacement of parts, and repairs are performed to maintain performance and safe operation. However, even with proper management, elevators deteriorate over time. The legal depreciable life of an elevator is 17 years, and according to a life cycle assessment by the Building and Equipment Life Cycle Assessment Association (BELCA), the expected life of a standard elevator is 30 years.

In addition, when a long period of time has passed since the production, manufacturers may stop supplying maintenance parts due to difficulties in obtaining the elements and materials that make up maintenance parts, which may make it difficult for us to replace or repair parts for models that are currently in operation.

Considering this situation, the Group mainly targets elevators that have been installed for about 20 years or so and carries out complete replacement work (modernization) of major components such as control panels and hoisting machines, as well as removal of existing equipment and installation of new equipment, in order to improve reliability, safety, and operating efficiency.

In the modernization service, the Group receives orders, determines construction details, and corresponds with the government, and mainly uses subcontractors for construction.

a. Type of elevator modernization

Control system modernization	We will update mainly the control system.
Part-replacement modernization	We will remove and install a new unit, utilizing a portion of the existing one (parts fixed to the building, such as doorway frames, thresholds, guide rails, etc.).
Total-replacement modernization	All existing equipment will be removed and a new state-of-the-art elevator will be installed.

b. Details of major modernization work performed by the Group

	Characteristics	Contents and Effects
Safety and Security	Step difference elimination	Prevent tripping when getting on and off elevators
	Wheelchair-accessibility	Lower operation panel, rear view mirror, handrail, and photoelectric multi-axis sensor for wheelchair users
		Extended door release time and reduced door closing speed
	Reinforcement of earthquake countermeasures	Earthquake controlled operation with P-wave sensor and restart function during earthquake
Seismic retrofitting	Compliance with the 2009 edition of the Guidelines for the Seismic Design and Construction of Elevators and Escalators (revised 2009) and the 2014 edition of the Guidelines for the Seismic Design and Construction of Elevators (revised 2014) (see note)
Comfort and Ecology	Introduction of inverter control	Smooth ride with minimal vibration and noise
		Reduction of power consumption and carbon dioxide emissions
	Operation Panel Indicator Digital display Adoption of liquid crystal display	Improved visibility
Improved design	Adoption of LED ceiling in elevator, latest design materials and colors around side panels, floor, and door halls	Allows for the provision of sophisticated spaces

(Note) 2009 revision: Cages (box-like structures for people to ride on) during earthquakes, rail strength reinforcement of balancing weights, and protective measures to ensure operational safety.

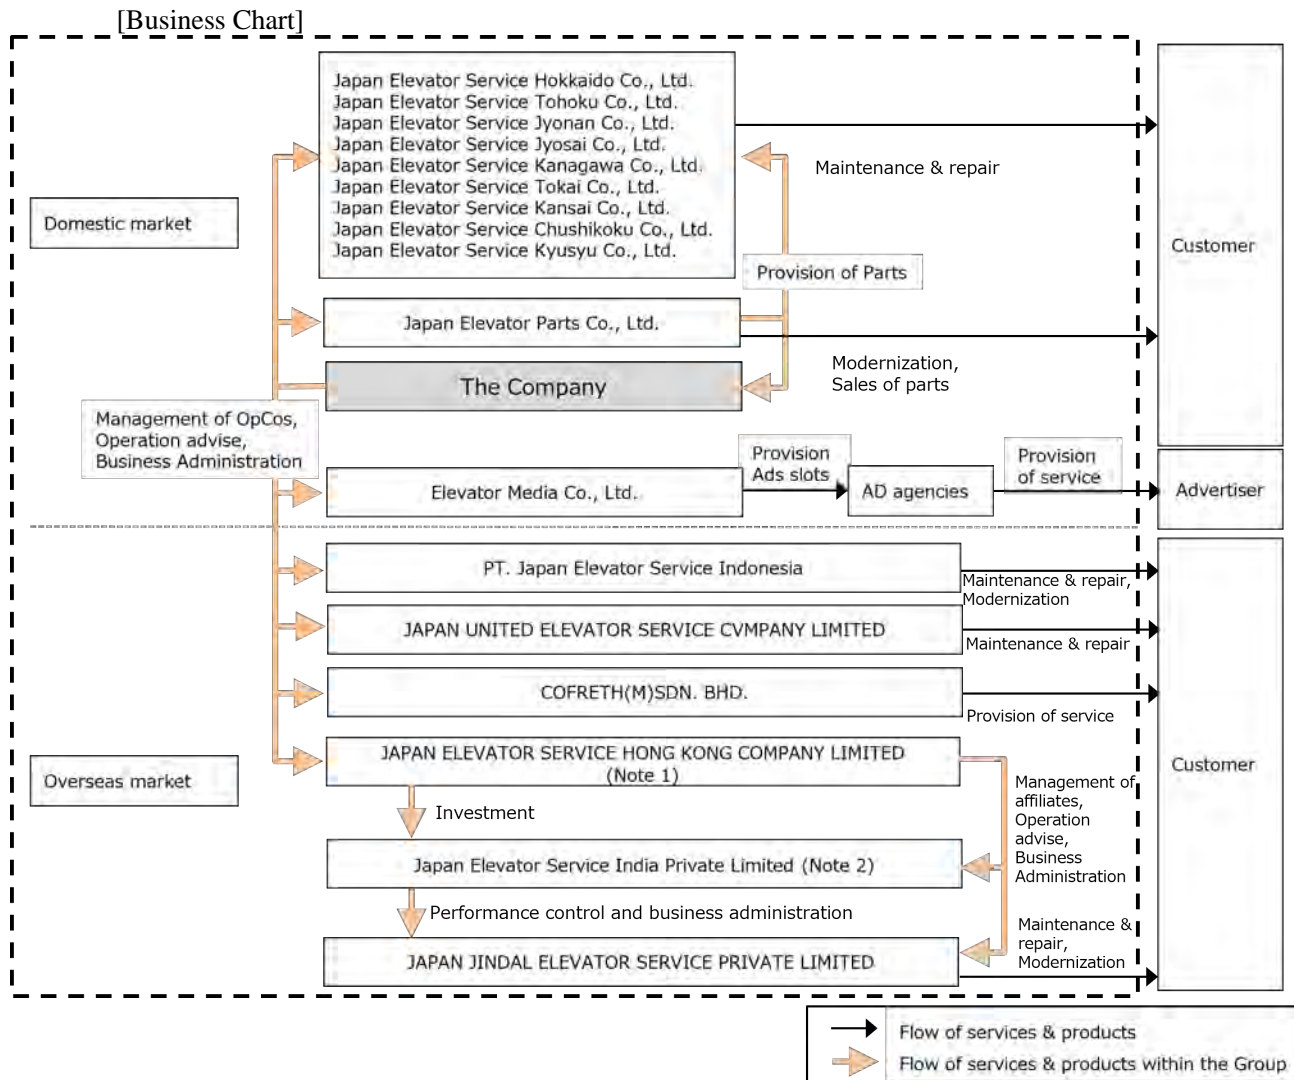

2014 revision: implementation of structural strengthening reinforcement of machine beds and balancing weights.

(Other)

The company sells maintenance parts for elevators and other equipment through Japan Elevator Parts Co., Ltd.

Elevator Media, Co., Ltd. provides media services for elevators. This business is intended to improve the convenience and safety of elevators by installing a flat display panel with a built-in security camera in each elevator and providing security services in addition to advertising distribution services, which we believe will provide new added value to our maintenance operations.

The following chart shows the main business activities of the Company and its group companies.

Item 2 [Status of Business]

1 [Management Policy, Business Environment, and Issues to be Addressed]

The management policy, business environment, and issues to be addressed by the Group are as follows. Forward-looking statements in the text are based on the judgment of the Group as of the end of the current fiscal year.

(1) Basic Management Policy of the Company

As an independent maintenance company, the Group is committed to "Safety above anything else," "No cutting corners even when others don't see it," and "Building on trust." Under our corporate philosophy, we are striving to improve the quality of our maintenance services and to "provide them at fair prices" by reviewing the manufacturer-led pricing.

(2) Target Management Indicators

The Group recognizes that shareholder-oriented management is to enhance growth and profitability and to continuously increase corporate value through stable business growth. We regard the sales growth rate as an important indicator of growth and the operating profit margins as an important indicator of profitability.

(3) Medium- to long-term Management Strategies

In order to achieve sustainable growth, the Group formulates and implements the following strategies over the medium to long term.

- (i) Promotion of maintenance and repair business
The Company will further grow its core maintenance and repair business by strengthening its sales force in each region through the adoption of a regional operating company system, and by expanding its business areas through M&As.
- (ii) Strengthen modernization business
The company will continue to strengthen the modernization business by expanding its sales force and developing its own products.
- (iii) Securing and developing human resources
Secure human resources to support stable growth by strengthening recruitment capabilities.
Improve technical standards and maintenance quality through human resource development.
- (iv) Stabilization of financial base
Improve the financial structure to enable the above strategies.

(4) Business and Financial Issued to be Addressed with Priority

In the elevator and escalator maintenance industry, business opportunities are increasing due to an increase in the number of elevators and escalators resulting from an increase in the supply of real estate and the cost reduction demands of property owners and building management companies, etc. On the other hand, the growing social demand for the safe operation of elevators and escalators requires the provision of high-quality services.

While the Japanese economy is showing signs of a pickup in economic trends due to improvement in employment and income situation, the outlook remains uncertain due to rising prices etc. Therefore, the need for companies to reduce costs is expected to increase more than ever. In the elevator and other maintenance market, of which the Group is a part, we expect that customers will become increasingly cost-conscious and demand for safety in the operation of elevators and other equipment will intensify. In this business environment, we recognize that the main issues to be addressed by the Group are as follows.

- (i) Build and expand domestic business base
We recognize that building and expanding our business base is a challenge for the Group to achieve stable growth. Specifically, we believe it is most important to increase the number of maintenance contracts, which will lead to ongoing revenue and expansion into repair and modernization operations.
- (ii) Secure and develop human resources
The foundation of the Group's business competitiveness is human resources capable of providing the high-quality maintenance services required for the safe operation of elevators, and we believe that securing and training such personnel is essential for the future growth of the Group.
The Group will continue strengthening the training it has provided to employees and establish an in-house technical and quality certification system to develop human resources with high skill levels.
In addition, the Group will seek to improve public awareness of the Group and working conditions, actively increase the number of new graduates and mid-career hires, and supplement its workforce as appropriate through the use of subcontractors that can guarantee the quality demanded by the Group.
- (iii) Develop overseas business

We believe that demand for high-quality maintenance services exists widely not only in the Japanese market but also in overseas markets. By leveraging the Group's technical capabilities to handle elevators from multiple manufacturers and its expertise in education and training, which it has cultivated in the Japanese market, the Company intends to expand and grow in overseas markets.

(iv) Consideration of capital and business alliances for business expansion

We will consider acquiring other companies, forming joint ventures or business alliances with other companies that would contribute to improving the corporate value of the Group.

(v) Promotion of research and development

The JES Innovation Center (JIC), a research and development facility equipped with a 50-meter elevator test tower, and the JES Innovation Center Lab (JIL), located adjacent to the JIC, promote research and development activities such as elevator modernization.

(vi) Stabilization of financial base

The future expansion of the Group's business will require upfront and ongoing investment to accommodate evolving technologies relates to elevators, including research and development, investment in human resources, and expansion of training facilities. To prepare for future capital needs, the Company shall secure internal reserves and stabilize its financial position by raising funds through borrowings and other means.

2 [Views and Initiatives on Sustainability]

The Group's views and initiatives on sustainability are as follows.

Forward-looking statements in the text are based on the judgment of the Group as of the end of the current fiscal year.

The Group is engaged in the maintenance business, which includes maintenance and repair services for elevators and other equipment, as well as modernization services for elevators. We believe it is important to provide high quality services for the safety and peace of mind of elevator passengers and we reflect it in our corporate philosophy that read: "Safety above anything else," "No cutting corners even when others don't see it," "Building on trust."

In order to contribute to the sustainable development of society and enhance our corporate value over the medium to long term, the Group's Board of Directors resolved the "Basic Sustainability Policy" at a meeting held on November 16, 2021. In addition, the Sustainability Committee was established in May 2022 to strengthen and promote sustainability management.

By practicing sustainability management, we aim to enhance economic value as well as social and environmental value.

(Basic Sustainability Policy)

The Group is committed to building of sustainable society and making the company that is trusted and needed by all stakeholders. To that end, we have identified two materiality issues that we must address with priority by leveraging our strengths through our business activities: (i) "quality and safety" and (ii) "occupational safety and employee engagement." These material issues reflects our corporate philosophy that read: "Safety above anything else," "No cutting corners even when others don't see it," "Building on trust."

(i) Quality and Safety

The Group considers "maintaining quality" and "providing peace of mind" as its major social responsibility, and aims to contribute to society by providing high quality and safe services that satisfy our customers.

(ii) Occupational safety and employee engagement

We believe that the most important foundation supporting our business is our human resources, and we are committed to ensuring the safety of our employees and creating an environment in which each employee can perform his or her duties with ease and satisfaction, which will lead to the sustainable development of the Group.

(Sustainability Committee)

Sustainability is becoming increasingly important these days as a means of ensuring sustainable corporate growth and improving corporate value over the medium to long term. Against this backdrop, we have established a Sustainability Committee under the Board of Directors with the aim of promoting sustainability initiatives linked to our management plan by resolving sustainability issues and identifying risks and opportunities. The Committee is chaired by the Director, Deputy President CFO, and its members consist of individuals who are deemed appropriate based on their duties in light of the Committee's objectives. The Company manages and oversees measures and confirms their consistency with management and operations, along with environmental, social, governance, and other sustainability issues.

(1) Governance

The Sustainability Committee deliberates on the formulation of sustainability strategies and plans, identification and assessment of risks, consideration of countermeasures, management of progress, setting of target indicators, etc., and monitors the status of initiatives, and makes reports and recommendations to the Board of Directors, the Committee also monitors the status of initiatives and makes reports and recommendations to the Board of Directors.

In addition, the Sustainability Committee provides guidance to the Group companies on issues related to sustainability and receives reports from each group company in an effort to strengthen the sustainability of the entire group.

For an overview of the Company's corporate governance including the above, please refer to "Item 4, Status of Filing Company,4. Corporate Governance, (1) [Overview of Corporate Governance]."

(2) Strategy

Through its elevator and other maintenance business, the Group manages the condition of elevators and other equipment 24 hours a day, 365 days a year to ensure the safety and security of elevators and other equipment used daily in commercial and residential facilities. Elevators and other elevators are important social infrastructure in our daily lives, and we believe that ensuring their safe operation through our maintenance business is the greatest social contribution we can make. To this end, the Group is striving to improve quality, enhance its technological capabilities, and strengthen research and development for this purpose.

The following is a summary of the main sustainability-related activities that the Group is undertaking to ensure sustainable growth.

a. Quality and Safety Initiatives

The Group considers the maintenance of quality and the provision of safety and peace of mind as important social responsibilities, and aims to contribute to society by providing high-quality, safe services that satisfy all users. To this end, we are undertaking the following initiatives

(i) Human Resource Development

The Group's competitive advantage lies in its advanced technological capabilities for various elevator manufacturer models. For sustainable growth and development, we believe it is important to develop human resources with the technical skills to take charge of the maintenance business. While there are official qualifications for elevator inspections, there are no official qualifications for maintenance checks. In light of this current situation, we believe it is necessary to enhance our in-house qualification system to ensure the safety of elevators and other equipment, and we have established a wide variety of training and qualification programs for this purpose and are striving to develop excellent human resources.

We also recognize the importance of a diverse workforce for sustainable growth in response to changes in the social environment. To date, we have hired without regard to gender, nationality, etc., and we intend to continue to promote the hiring of diverse personnel and the development of training programs in accordance with our business plan.

(Training program "STEP24" In-house certification system)

STEP24 is a system to train employees from no experience to a technical level that will enable them to play an active role as maintenance personnel by providing them with basic knowledge of elevators and escalators, safety rules, practical on-site training, and a wide range of knowledge on each model of major Japanese manufacturers.

The Group has introduced its own evaluation qualification system for technical personnel (System for Qualified Personnel for Elevator Maintenance). The following qualifications have been established: "G5: Qualified personnel for elevator safety work," "G4: Semi-qualified personnel for maintenance of elevators," "G3: Qualified personnel for maintenance of elevators," etc. After completing the entire STEP24 training curriculum, a departmental and practical exam will be administered, and successful applicants will be certified as G3 and allowed to perform all tasks alone as a maintenance supervisor. In order to further enhance expertise, we are expanding the career paths of our employees by creating new G2 and G1 positions.

In addition, we continuously provide various types of education and training according to the level of technical proficiency in order to develop specialists who can handle various models from each of the major domestic manufacturers. We strive to improve the skills of our employees through a diverse curriculum.

(ii) Quality Safety

As experts in the maintenance business, the Group is committed to safety first and quality second. As part of governance and risk management, the Technology Headquarters analyzes issues related to quality and safety and formulates improvement measures, which are shared with and supported by each group company. Specifically, the results of quality control are analyzed monthly by the Technology Headquarters and each group company in an effort to reduce failures. The General Manager of the Technology

Headquarters reports regularly to the Board of Directors on the quality overview, including failure rates and other data and improvement measures.

As a strategy for sustainable growth, the Technology Headquarters is taking the lead in strengthening the system to increase the number of maintenance contract units.

b. Efforts related to occupational safety

The Group believes that ensuring the safety of employees who support its business and creating an environment conducive to their safety is critical to its sustainable growth. To this end, we are undertaking the following initiatives

(i) Occupational Safety and Health

The Group has established a Health and Safety Committee in accordance with the Occupational Health and Safety Law, and has appointed a health manager, a safety manager, a safe driving manager, and a fire prevention manager. The committee meets once a month to fully discuss important matters, including measures to prevent hazards or health problems among employees.

In addition, we have established a safety license system for technicians engaged in elevator maintenance and are working to improve safety awareness among technicians by providing them with safety training courses.

(ii) Creation of a comfortable work environment

The Group has been improving the work environment to reduce the burden on employees with reference to the Comfortable Workplace Guidelines of the Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare.

In addition, since the development of internal systems and environments is essential to promote the success of diverse human resources, we provide support for employees to work with peace of mind by promoting the development of personnel systems and workplace environments appropriate to their life stages, such as childcare and nursing care.

(iii) Promotion of health management

The Group regards the physical and mental health of our employees and their families, who support the growth of the Company, as one of our important management resources, and aims to be a company where employees contribute to the development of a rich, comfortable, and healthy social life and economy by actively supporting individuals' health maintenance and health enhancement activities and by promoting organized health activities. In order to promote and implement health management, the Health Management Promotion Team, led by the General Affairs Department, monitors the health status of employees and the implementation of measures, and work with each committee, industrial physicians, and association kempo to make continuous improvements to maintain and promote employee health.

(3) Risk Management

The Group believes that managing risks related to sustainability, including environmental and social issues, is important for the sustainable growth of the Group. Through a governance structure centered on the Sustainability Committee, the Group identifies, assesses, and manages sustainability-related risks that it faces or may face in the future, and implements appropriate responses, including reporting to the Board of Directors. Depending on the nature of the issues, the Company would work with the Compliance Committee and other standing committees to enhance checks and controls over business operations.

The Company has expressed its endorsement of the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD). The Sustainability Committee reviews and promotes disclosure based on TCFD recommendations, and discloses risks and opportunities related to climate change.

(4) Indicators and Targets

The Group strives to hire and secure the necessary human resources according to its business plan. The Company aims to increase the number of maintenance contracts, sales, and operating income mainly in the Japanese domestic market. Therefore, the Company manages as a key indicator the increase in the number of employees in line with business growth and the increase in the number of technical personnel who promote the maintenance business for elevators and other equipment.

The number of employees as of March 31, 2026 was 2,286, an increase of 258 from 2,028 in the same period of the previous year. The number of technical personnel was 1,452 at the end of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2026, an increase of 181 from 1,271 in the same period of the previous year.

The Group will continue to recruit and retain personnel based on the status of the number of maintenance contracts and other factors, with the goal of securing more personnel than in the same period of the previous year.

We believe that for the sustainable growth and development of the Group, it is important to develop human resources with the technical skills to take charge of the maintenance business. As an indicator for human resource development, to stabilize the maintenance business, we have set the number of "G3 Qualified Personnel for Elevator Maintenance" as an indicator for the evaluation qualification system for technical personnel (System for Qualified Personnel for Elevator Maintenance) and aim to increase the number of certified persons to more than the same number of persons in the same period of the previous year. At the end of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2026, the number of G3 Qualified Personnel was 586, showing a steady increase. We will continue to develop human resources through an evaluation qualification system for technical personnel (Qualified Personnel System for Elevator Maintenance) to improve their technical skills.

3 [Risk Factors]

Below is a list of major risk factors that may affect the business development of the Group (the Company, consolidated subsidiaries, and equity-method affiliates). In addition, matters that do not necessarily fall under business development risks but are considered important for investors' investment decisions are described from the viewpoint of proactive information disclosure to investors.

While the Company recognizes the possibility that these risks may occur and has a policy of working to avoid such risks and to respond to them if they do occur, the Company believes that investment decisions regarding the Company's shares should be made after careful consideration of this section and other sections of the securities report.

In addition, the following description is not intended to be an exhaustive list of all the risks associated with investing in our stock.

Unless otherwise noted, the following statements are as of the end of the current fiscal year, and forward-looking statements are based on the judgment of the Group as of the end of the current fiscal year. Since there are uncertainties concerning matters related to the future, and the results may differ from the results that will arise in the future, decisions regarding the matters described here should be made carefully in conjunction with the matters described below and other items described in this section.

(1) Risk of Dependence on Specific Suppliers

The Group's principal business is the maintenance of elevators and other equipment.

The Group strives to reduce the risk of not being able to secure parts for maintenance of elevators by purchasing parts from multiple suppliers, but for the purpose of maintaining quality, some parts are purchased only from manufacturers (including affiliated companies) of elevators subject to maintenance.

The Group prepares for shortages or delays in the supply of these parts by holding a certain amount of inventory, recycling parts, and considering procurement from overseas markets. However, if for some reason we are unable to secure these parts in a timely manner and in adequate quantities, we may not be able to perform our maintenance operations in a timely manner.

In addition, if the prices of these parts increase for reasons such as the rising prices of the materials that make up these parts and we are unable to pass these costs on to our service prices, the Group's financial position and operating results may be affected.

(2) Risks Related to Competition

In the maintenance market, there are many competitors of various sizes, including manufacturers of elevators and other equipment, maintenance specialists affiliated with manufacturers, and independent maintenance companies, etc. Intensifying competition may result in a decrease in the number of new contracts or contract switching, which could reduce the Group's market share. In addition, a decline in service prices could affect the financial position and operating results of the Group, which is engaged in a single business of maintenance.

(3) Technological Innovation

New elevator and escalator models are constantly being released and installed, and the Group is striving to improve its technical standards so that it can maintain any model from any major Japanese manufacturer. However, if the Group is unable to respond in a timely manner due to rapid technological innovation by manufacturers, this may affect the financial position, business performance, and future business development of the Group.

(4) Laws and Regulations

(i) The Building Standards Act stipulates that statutory inspections of maintenance and repair work performed by the Group shall be performed by persons qualified as inspectors of elevators and escalators, etc. However, if for some reason we are unable to secure enough inspectors for elevators and escalators, it may affect our financial position and business performance.

(ii) In the repair and modernization business conducted by the Group, we operate under a license for machinery and equipment installation work business based on the Construction Business Act. However, the revision or abolition of the Construction Business Act, Building Standards Act, and other related laws and regulations could affect the financial position and business performance of the Group for reasons such as the need to change product specifications.

(5) Intellectual Property Rights

The Group owns, maintains, and manages a number of intellectual property rights, and strives to avoid the occurrence of infringement of intellectual property rights by conducting technical surveys, etc., as necessary. However, there is a possibility that the Group's intellectual property rights may be invalidated or imitated, and if the protection of the Group's intellectual property rights is undermined, the Group's business results may be affected. In addition, the Group may be liable for damages to a third party due to infringement of the intellectual property rights of a third party.

(6) Inventory and Calculation Risk of Maintenance Parts

The Group holds these assets as parts inventories for maintenance, repair, and modernization operations for elevators and other equipment. Inventories may increase due to the large number of models of elevators and other equipment subject to maintenance and the expected lengthy maintenance periods.

The Group manages inventory according to the importance of the parts, such as by controlling the number of standard inventories. However, if the asset value of inventory assets declines due to a decline in profitability or other factors, the Group's financial position and operating results may be affected.

(7) Risks Associated with Accidents, Disasters, etc.

The Group is engaged in maintenance, repair and modernization services for elevators and other equipment. In performing these services, the Group takes sufficient care to ensure the safety of our clients and users by complying with the "Common Specifications for Building Repair Services" of the Ministry of Land, Infrastructure, Transport and Tourism, as well as our own safety standards established within the company.

However, in addition to accidents caused by earthquakes and other disasters, user usage, and defects in elevators and other equipment, accidents involving damage to equipment and, in some cases, personal injury may occur due to human error on the part of the Group's employees or contractors during maintenance work.

Although we strive to avoid risk by providing thorough safety instructions to Group employees and contractors and by purchasing liability insurance, the occurrence of losses that cannot be covered by insurance or a loss of trust in us could affect the Group's operating results.

(8) Risks Related to Industrial Accidents

Maintenance work on elevators and other equipment is hazardous work. The Group strives to prevent accidents by providing thorough safety training to its employees.

However, in the unlikely event of a serious accident or occupational injury, the Group may incur a temporary burden of compensation and other costs, which may seriously affect the Group's social credibility and affect its financial position and operating results.

(9) Risks Related to Acquisitions or Business Alliances

The Group acquires other companies and engages in joint ventures and business alliances with other companies. However, if acquisitions or alliances do not go smoothly, or if the acquired company's business, joint venture, or business alliance does not produce the expected benefits in the expected time frame as originally anticipated, the financial position and operating results of the Group may be affected.

(10) Risks Associated with Overseas Business Development

The Group is expanding its business overseas, and there are several risks associated with doing business in overseas markets, including the following

- (i) Unexpected changes in laws and regulations
- (ii) Changes in social, political, and economic conditions or deterioration of public security
- (iii) Adverse changes in various tax systems or taxation
- (iv) Credit risk of business partners due to different business practices, etc.
- (v) Changes in the working environment and difficulties in securing and training human resources
- (vi) Foreign exchange risk

To minimize risks listed above, we intend to build a system that will enable us to take countermeasures quickly and promptly from local legal counsel, accounting firms, and other sources. However, the emergence of risks may make it difficult to provide services, which may affect the financial position and business performance of the Group.

(11) Liability for defect warranty, etc.

If any part of an elevator that has undergone repair and modernization work (our product) fails during the warranty period (12 months from the delivery) under specified conditions, such as proper installation, connection, maintenance, and inspection control in accordance with the instruction manual, etc., we will repair or replace the failed part free of charge according to the method specified by us.

The Group is also liable for compensation for damages to customers directly caused by serious defects in its products or by gross negligence in the Company's fabrication and installation.

If for some reason the Group is pursued for liability for defects or damages, and is held liable for compensation, the financial position and business performance of the Group may be affected.

(12) Securing and Developing Human Resources

The Group is working to secure highly specialized technical personnel and to increase the number of sales and administrative personnel in anticipation of future business expansion. We also focus on human resource development and strive to improve our technical capabilities and strengthen and enhance our internal management system. Failure to take these measures in a timely and appropriate manner could affect the financial position and operating results of the Group, such as when the Company increases its workforce in advance of business expansion and incurs expenses in advance, or when it is unable to secure the necessary personnel for its business, or when human resource development does not progress as expected.

(13) Management of Customer Information

Since the Group handles a large amount of customer information, including that related to maintenance, repair, and modernization contracts, it has introduced a system to prevent information leaks from within as well as countermeasures against unauthorized network intrusions from outside, and has established an "Information Security Policy. In addition, we have established "Information Security Policy" and "Rules for the Protection of Personal Information and Specified Personal Information" to prevent information leakage.

However, in the unlikely event that customer information is leaked outside the Group due to unforeseen circumstances, the Group's financial position and operating results may be affected by a loss of trust and claims for damages.

(14) System Failure

Our control center monitors the condition of elevators and other equipment 24 hours a day, 365 days a year to ensure that we can respond to any problems without delay.

Since the control center services are provided through computer systems and communication networks, we make every effort to prevent or avoid system problems by taking backups on a regular basis, but if a natural disaster, unforeseen accident, temporary overload due to a sudden increase in access that exceeds expectations, or other factors cause computer system problems, the Group's financial position and operating results may be affected.

(15) Interest-bearing Debt

The balance of the Group's interest-bearing debt (including lease obligations) was 3,004 million yen as of the end of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2026, making the Group 7.5% dependent on interest-bearing debt. Therefore, if refinancing becomes difficult due to turmoil in the financial markets, economic stagnation, or changes in the lending attitudes of financial institutions, or if interest expenses increase sharply due to a rapid rise in market interest rates, etc., the financial position and operating results of the Group may be affected.

Certain loans payable are subject to financial covenants. In the event of a breach of financial covenants, the Group's financial position and cash flows could be affected because it would lose the benefit of time if requested by the lender and would need funds to repay the debt immediately.

Details of the financial covenants are as described in "Item 5 [Financial Statements and Supplementary Data] 1, Consolidated Financial Statements, (1) Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Notes to Consolidated Balance Sheets), *2 Financial Covenants" and "Item 5 [Financial Statements and Supplementary Data] 2, Financial Statements, (1) Notes to Financial Statements (Notes to Balance Sheets), *2 Financial Covenants."

4 [Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition, Operating Results and Cash Flows]

The following is a summary of the recognition, analysis, and discussion of the Group's operating results from the management's perspective. Forward-looking statements in the text are based on judgments made as of the end of the current fiscal year.

(1) Recognition, Analysis and Discussion of Operating Results for the Current Fiscal Year

During the current consolidated fiscal year, the economic trends in Japan shows a moderate recovery along with the improvement of employment and compensation conditions. However, the outlook remains uncertain due to the effects of rising prices and companies' needs for cost reduction are expected to increase more than ever.

In the maintenance for elevator and other equipment industry, the market is on a gradual expansion trend due to the steady increase in the number of condominium units in stock and the increase in the supply of office buildings.

In this market environment, the Group has been working to respond to the cost reduction needs of companies by switching contracts to independent maintenance companies, improving its nationwide network, acquiring, and training personnel to strengthen quality and safety, and reinforcing its sales structure. Going forward, the Group will make efforts to improve productivity in order to accelerate the net increase in the number of contracts, as well as to improve production capacity and profitability in the modernization business.

As for maintenance and repair services, the number of maintenance contracts remained steady, and net sales of maintenance and repair services for the current fiscal year amounted to 34,499 million yen (up 13.0% YoY). In modernization services, net sales of modernization services for the current fiscal year were 21,801 million yen (up 25.8% YoY), thanks to a strengthened sales structure in preparation for business expansion and stronger proposals for properties where parts supply has been suspended.

As a result of the above, for the current consolidated fiscal year the Company recorded net sales of 57,601 million yen (up 16.7% YoY), operating profit of 11,010 million yen (up 27.7% YoY), ordinary profit of 11,006 million yen (up 27.7% YoY), and profit attributable to owners of parent of 7,319 million yen (up 32.4% YoY).

The Group has a single segment, "Maintenance Business," and sales by type of sales (maintenance and repair services, modernization services, and others) are shown below.

(Unit: millions of yen)

(iii) Analysis of cash flows

Cash and cash equivalents (hereinafter referred to as "cash") at the end of the current fiscal year increased 1,795 million yen from the end of the previous consolidated fiscal year to 3,859 million yen. The status of each cash flow and their factors during the current fiscal year are as follows.

(Net cash provided by (used in) operating activities)

Net cash provided by operating activities amounted to 8,801 million yen (5,643 million yen in the same period of the previous year). This was mainly due to an increase of 10,662 million yen in profit before income taxes and an increase of 1,587 million yen in depreciation, offset by decreases such as an increase in trade receivables of 1,512 million yen and income tax paid of 3,120 million yen.

(iv) Analysis of capital resources and liquidity of funds

The Group strives to generate stable operating cash flow and secure a wide range of funding sources in order to secure adequate funds for its business activities, maintain liquidity, and achieve a sound financial position. Working capital requirements are mainly due to procurement of parts for elevators and other equipment, personnel expenses, and other operating expenses, as well as tax payment funds, etc., for the provision of the Group's services. Working capital and recurring capital expenditures are financed by cash on hand, indirect financing, and lease transactions. We will continue to work on a variety of financing methods to support our business activities, focusing on securing low-cost, stable, and flexible funds.

(v) Significant accounting policies and estimates

The consolidated financial statements of the Group are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Japan. Their preparation requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the selection and application of accounting policies, the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and revenues and expenses, and disclosures. Management has made reasonable judgments about these estimates based on past performance and circumstances, but actual results may differ from these estimates due to the uncertainties inherent in estimates.

Significant accounting policies adopted by the Group in its consolidated financial statements are described in "Item 5 [Financial Statements and Supplementary Data], 1 [Consolidated Financial Statements], (1) [Consolidated Financial Statements], [Notes], (Basis of Presenting Consolidated Financial Statements.)."

(vi) Management's recognition of the problem and future plans

In the elevator and other maintenance market, of which the Group is a part, we expect that customers will become increasingly cost-conscious and demand for safety in the operation of elevators and other equipment will intensify.

Since its establishment, the Group is committed to "Safety above anything else," "No cutting corners even when others don't see it," and "Building on trust." Under our corporate philosophy, we are striving to improve the quality of our maintenance services and to "realize fair prices" by reviewing the manufacturer-led pricing. In order to achieve sustainable growth in the future, we recognize the particular importance of "improving customer satisfaction through prompt provision of services by operating companies in each area," "expanding business areas in Japan and overseas, including M&A," and "securing and training human resources capable of providing high-quality maintenance."

The Company's management is committed to developing and implementing the best possible management policies to appropriately address these issues.

Management's recognition of issues and future policies other than those mentioned above are described in "Item 2 [Status of Business], 1. [Management Policy, Business Environment and Issues to be Addressed.]"

(2) Production, Orders and Sales

Since the Group consists of a single segment of maintenance business, "Production, Orders, and Sales Results" by segment is omitted.

Other	1,300	86.1
Total	57,601	116.7

(Note) Sales results by major customer and the percentage of such sales results to total sales results are omitted because there is no customer that accounts for 10% or more of total sales results.

5 [Important Contracts]

Not applicable.

6 [Research and Development]

In the Group, research and development activities are conducted solely by the Company.

In order to respond to the increasing number of elevators installed and the increasing dependence of society on them, we are conducting research and development activities to improve the quality of elevator maintenance by promptly adopting various latest elemental technologies.

Research and development during the fiscal year under review focused on improving the functionality of PRIME server consoles, enhancing the functionality of remote monitoring terminals to reduce equipment and personnel costs, and developing Quick Renewal products to reduce modernization costs and shorten construction periods.

As a result, the cost of research and development activities for the current fiscal year was 511 million yen (including the capitalized portion), and we have expanded the number of models of elevators that we can handle remotely and handle breakdowns through our proprietary maintenance consoles. In addition, we will absorb feedback from the field where "Quick Renewal" has already been launched and continue to push forward with development work for the expansion of models compatible with "Quick Renewal."

As the Group consists of a single segment of maintenance business, the description of each segment is omitted.

The Group conducts ongoing research and development in the Technology Division, the basic policy of which is as follows.

(1) Research and development related to "PRIME" remote inspection service

"PRIME" is the generic name for our proprietary remote inspection system and the services we provide using it.

The elevator remote monitoring system consists of a remote monitoring terminal connected to the elevator to monitor its operating status, a monitoring server to receive reports and warnings from the terminal, and a monitoring console for the monitors to check the reports and warnings.

(1-a) Remote monitoring terminal

The remote monitoring terminal conducts research and development of operation status monitoring technology to make elevators made by various manufacturers compatible with the remote monitoring system. Although the main focus is on wired communication technology, we have been conducting a wide range of studies and investigations without limiting the scope of hardware, software protocols, and technologies. In addition, we have started an initiative to temporarily restore elevators that were suspended due to the earthquake without human intervention (temporary restoration after the earthquake), and have completed the development of some models of our modernization elevators.

As a means of collecting operating status, in addition to acquisition from the elevator control panel, we are continuing research to diversify methods of monitoring operating status, such as acquisition using various sensors, including acceleration sensors and temperature sensors.

The communication infrastructure for transmitting various information from remote monitoring terminals uses LTE (4G) communication, which is the mainstream wireless communication network these days, and our own closed network, which is highly resistant to outside interference and computer viruses, is installed to ensure network communication security. In addition, the PHS-based remote monitoring terminals were replaced with deliverables for which the development of countermeasures against outages had been completed, and the replacement was completed by the time of outages. In addition, as an M2M/IoT communication terminal, we are studying even wider and more stable wireless communications.

(Note) M2M/IoT communication: Technology to collect information and improve services over a wide area by applying cell phone communication to communication between devices and equipment.

(1-b) Monitoring server

A monitoring server is a core device that temporarily accumulates information sent from remote monitoring terminals and notifies connected monitoring consoles in real time. Due to the concentration of information and communications from a considerable number of nodes, it is necessary to have sufficient performance for simultaneous communications, to be able to withstand the concentration of information generated during disasters such as earthquakes and typhoons, as well as the collection of information from various sensors of remote terminals to be implemented in the future, and to enable multi-point monitoring console connection for monitoring work at various locations of the Company.

As a business continuity measure for these facilities, we have put disaster-proof data centers into operation in the Kanto and Kansai regions, and have completed the installation of a closed network with multiple telecommunications carriers. In addition, we have completed the construction of infrastructure and foundations that combine various server systems under in-house operation with public clouds (cloud services), and are strengthening our operation system. This is expected to improve the ease of server resource adjustment associated with an increase in the number of elevators managed, as well as safety and business continuity in the event of a disaster or failure.

In addition, we are building a data infrastructure to accumulate and analyze various sensors and operating status data, and are examining technologies to implement an AI-based prediction and optimization function. In addition, we have launched a response support system that utilizes generative AI technology in certain operations, leveraging internally accumulated data on elevator malfunctions and other issues. This is expected to improve the efficiency of maintenance operations and facilitate the transfer of technical expertise.

(1-c) Monitoring console

The monitoring console is a PC program that displays elevator anomalies detected by the remote monitoring terminal on a monitor to enable checking of elevator operation status and remote operation of the elevator. We have researched and developed a mechanism to ensure stable operation of elevators even under conditions where a large number of abnormalities are detected, such as in the event of a disaster, and have deployed this mechanism to the control center, where it is now in operation. In addition, we are continuing to develop measures to improve functionality, speed up information processing, and increase the efficiency of monitoring work. We are developing programs that will visualize various types of sensor data sent from remote monitoring terminals. These programs will also enable certain monitoring and elevator maintenance work to be performed on smartphones and tablets.

(2) Research and development related to in-house elevator control panels

Currently, we purchase various parts including control panels from domestic and overseas subcontractors and customize them for each elevator to be installed, and then perform modernization work. In the future, we will promote proposals that meet various customers' needs (full renovation, low-cost modernization, and modernization in a very short construction period) by combining our Quick Renewal products with control panels developed by our company, and reduce maintenance costs by closely linking them with our elevator remote monitoring system. In addition, by adding earthquake-recovery and group-management functions to our products compatible with the Unintended Car Movement Protection (UCMP) used in our flagship elevator control panels, we have further expanded the range of applications, enabling cost reductions for elevator retrofits equipped with UCMP devices. Furthermore, through technical partnerships with overseas manufacturers, we are advancing the development of high-performance elevator control panels at lower prices, with the aim of further reducing costs in our retrofit business and developing products tailored to overseas markets.

We have added a remote software update feature to our rope-type control panels with machine rooms, which are currently available for sale. By integrating this feature with our elevator remote monitoring system, software updates can be performed even when no maintenance personnel are present during elevator operation. This enables us to not only resolve malfunctions but also quickly implement feature updates and add new functions. We also expect this to reduce the administrative burden on our company.

Furthermore, we have completed the development of a pit-mounted PM motor as the first product in our series of renovations for machine-room-less (roomless) elevators. The results of evaluations conducted in our test tower were favorable, and we will now proceed to mass production following on-site trial installations.

We will continue our efforts to meet a wide range of customer needs.

Item 3 [Facilities]

1 [Capital Investment]

(1) [Basic Approach to Human Resources Strategy]

(i) Basic Approach to Human Capital

The Group's mission is to contribute to the stable operation of social infrastructure by providing safe, reliable, and high-quality elevator maintenance services. Our business model is based on maintenance contracts, and our competitive advantage stems from our highly specialized technical personnel who perform maintenance work on-site. We also believe that strengthening our sales force to build trust with customers and secure contract renewals, as well as having administrative personnel to support our business infrastructure, are equally important.

Therefore, investment in human capital is central to enhancing our Group's corporate value over the medium to long term, and we regard our human resources strategy as a critical management priority that is inseparable from our overall business strategy.

(ii) A Human Resources Strategy Aligned with Business Strategy

As an independent elevator maintenance company, our group has established and is implementing key management strategies—namely, promoting maintenance and preventive maintenance services and strengthening our modernization services—to achieve sustainable growth through improved maintenance quality, in accordance with our corporate philosophy of "Safety above anything else," "No cutting corners even when others don't see it," and "Building on trust."

To achieve these goals, we are implementing the following initiatives as part of a unified human resources strategy for the entire Group, including our consolidated subsidiaries.

- Recruiting talented personnel and strengthening our business infrastructure

To increase the number of units under maintenance contracts and maintain and improve service quality, we are systematically recruiting employees through both new graduate and mid-career hiring. Our recruitment policy is formulated at the group level based on our business plan, and each consolidated subsidiary conducts recruitment activities in alignment with its own business plan.

- Human resource development, enhancing professional expertise

With safety and quality as our top priorities, we plan and oversee internal training systems and educational programs to enhance our technical capabilities, and we implement these across our consolidated subsidiaries. By improving the expertise of employees in various roles—including sales, technical, and administrative personnel—we strengthen our organizational structure to enable the execution of our business strategies, such as business expansion and improvements in technical standards and maintenance quality.

- Training of managers

As we expand our network of offices to support business growth, we are strengthening our efforts to develop managerial talent. Through tiered training programs and performance evaluation systems, we are systematically developing employees who possess not only technical expertise but also organizational management skills.

- Improving work satisfaction

Recognizing that creating an environment where employees can work with peace of mind over the long term leads to the development of technical expertise and improved quality, we are committed to improving working conditions, enhancing employee benefits, and ensuring fair evaluation and compensation.

(iii) Human Resources Management Structure at Consolidated Companies

As a holding company, we formulate the basic policies for the Group's overall human resources strategy and oversee the implementation of human resources systems at our consolidated subsidiaries based on these policies. While establishing a common framework for the Group regarding recruitment policies, training systems, performance evaluation systems, and compensation systems, we implement these systems in a manner tailored to the specific business and regional characteristics of each company.

Important matters concerning human capital are regularly reported and discussed by our Human Resources Division at meetings such as the Management Committee, ensuring appropriate monitoring across the entire Group.

(iv) Policy on Determining Employee Compensation

The Group has established the following policy regarding the determination of employee compensation and other benefits.

- Basic Approach

The Group has established a compensation system that appropriately reflects business performance as well as individual achievements and abilities, while ensuring fairness and transparency. Salaries are determined by taking into account prevailing market rates, the Company's financial capacity, inflation, the employee's abilities, their contribution to the Company, the difficulty of their duties, and the level of responsibility involved.

- Compensation Structure

Employee compensation consists primarily of the following:

Base Salary:

Base salaries are determined based on job responsibilities, role, grade, and market standards.

Pay raises are generally granted in April of each year, and the amount of the raise is determined based on the employee's abilities and work performance.

Bonuses:

Our system comprehensively considers company performance and individual evaluations to ensure alignment with performance, while also incorporating safety and quality metrics as evaluation factors.

Allowances and Other Benefits:

In addition to various allowances such as position-based allowances, child allowances, childcare allowances, and housing allowances, we have established a retirement benefit system and various employee welfare programs.

- Implementation at Consolidated Subsidiaries

The basic design of the compensation system is formulated by our company, and consolidated subsidiaries implement it in accordance with this policy.

Actuarial gains and losses are amortized by the straight-line method over a fixed number of years (eight years) within the average remaining service period of employees at the time the gains or losses are recognized in each fiscal year, starting from the following fiscal year.

(c) Adoption of the simplified method to small enterprises

Certain consolidated subsidiaries use a simplified method to calculate retirement benefit liability and retirement benefit expenses, using the amount payable at the end of the fiscal year as the retirement benefit obligation.

(5) Basis for recording significant revenues and expenses

The Group's principal business is the maintenance, repair, and modernization work of elevators and other equipment.

With respect to maintenance services for elevators and other equipment, the Company recognizes revenue as services are rendered over the contract period because the Company satisfies its performance obligation over a certain period through the provision of services during the contract period with the customer.

For repair and modernization services, except for work with a very short period, the Company estimates the degree of completion related to the fulfillment of performance obligations and recognizes revenue over a certain period based on the degree of completion.

For construction contracts with a very short period from the transaction commencement date to the point when the performance obligation is expected to be fully satisfied, an alternative treatment is applied, whereby revenue is not recognized over a certain period and revenue is recognized when the customer accepts the contract.

The consideration for the transaction is received within one year of satisfaction of the performance obligation and does not include a significant financial component.

(6) Basis of translation of significant foreign currency-denominated assets or liabilities into Japanese currency

Monetary receivables and payables denominated in foreign currencies are translated into yen at the spot exchange rate prevailing on the consolidated balance sheet date, with translation differences recognized as gains or losses. Assets and liabilities of overseas subsidiaries are translated into yen at the spot exchange rate as of the balance sheet date of the overseas subsidiaries (including the provisional closing date), while revenues and expenses are translated into yen at the average exchange rate during the period. The translation adjustment is included in the foreign currency translation reserve and non-controlling interests within the net assets section.

(7) Amortization method and period of Goodwill

Goodwill is amortized by the straight-line method over a reasonable number of years not exceeding 20 years, based on the judgment of each individual case.

(8) Scope of cash and cash equivalents in the consolidated statements of cash flows

Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash on hand, deposits that can be withdrawn on demand, and short-term investments with maturities of three months or less at the time of acquisition that are readily convertible into cash and are exposed to insignificant risk of changes in value.

(Significant accounting estimates)

Impairment of goodwill

(1) Amounts recorded in the consolidated financial statements for the current fiscal year

(Unit: millions of yen)

	Previous fiscal year	Current fiscal year
Impairment loss	-	42
Goodwill	1,835	1,618

(2) Other information that contributes to the understanding of users of the consolidated financial statements

(i) Calculation Method

The Company confirms the operating profit and the achievement of future cash flows based on the future business plans of each company prepared at the time of acquisition, and identifies any signs of impairment. When there is an indication of impairment, the Company determines whether an impairment loss should be recognized. For goodwill for which an impairment loss should be recognized, the carrying amount is reduced to the recoverable amount and the amount of such reduction is recognized as an impairment loss.

(ii) Key Assumptions

The main assumption in each company's future business plan is that sales will be derived from maintaining and increasing the number of contracts for maintenance and repair services, etc., through enhanced sales activities.

(iii) Impact on the consolidated financial statements of the following fiscal year

The key assumption, sales in each company's future business plan, is subject to estimation uncertainty and carries a risk of significant impact on the determination of goodwill impairment.

(Unapplied accounting standards)

(Accounting standard for leases)

- "Accounting Standard for Leases" (ASBJ Statement No. 34, September 13, 2024)
- "Accounting Standard for Presentation of Leases" (ASBJ Guidance No. 33, September 13, 2024, Accounting Standards Board of Japan) etc.

(1) Outline

As part of the efforts to make the Japanese standards internationally consistent, the Accounting Standards Board examined the development of an accounting standard for leases that recognizes assets and liabilities for all leases of lessees, considering international accounting standards. As a basic policy, the Accounting Standards Board announced the Accounting Standard for Leases, etc., which is based on the single accounting treatment model of IFRS 16, but aims to make it simple and convenient by incorporating only major provisions, not all provisions of IFRS 16, and to make it basically unnecessary to revise even if the provisions of IFRS 16 are used in individual financial statements.

As for the accounting treatment of lessees, regarding the method of allocating expenses for leases for lessees, a single accounting model that records depreciation expenses for right-of-use assets and interest expenses for lease liabilities is applied for all leases, regardless of whether the lease is a finance lease or an operating lease, as in IFRS 16.

(2) Scheduled date of application

The Company shall assume the standard effective from the beginning of the fiscal year ending March 31, 2028.

(3) Effect of Application of the Accounting Standards

The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the application of "Accounting Standard for Leases" and other accounting standards on its consolidated financial statements.

(2) Effective Date

This standard will be effective from the beginning of the fiscal year ending March 31, 2027.

(3) Impact of Applying This Accounting Standard

- "Implementation Guidance for the Accounting Standard for Subsequent Events" (ASBJ Guidance No. 35, January 9, 2026, Accounting Standards Board of Japan)

(1) Overview

The "Accounting Standard for Subsequent Events," prioritizes the establishment of a comprehensive accounting standard addressing the definition, accounting treatment, and disclosure of subsequent events. As a fundamental policy, it will generally follow the accounting content outlined in the Japan Institute of Certified Public Accountants (JICPA) Audit and Assurance Standards Committee's Audit Standard Report No. 560, Practice Guide No. 1 "Audit Considerations Regarding Subsequent Events," and to organize the evaluation period for subsequent events, while also requiring new notes regarding the approval of financial statement disclosure.

(2) Effective Date

This standard is effective from the beginning of the fiscal year ending March 31, 2028.

(Change in the basis of presentation)

(Consolidated Statements of Income)

"Interest income," which was included in "Other" under "non-operating income" in the previous fiscal year, is presented as a separate item from the current fiscal year due to its increased monetary significance. To reflect this change in presentation, reclassification has been made to the consolidated financial statements for the previous fiscal year.

As a result, the amount of 10 million yen presented in "other" under "non-operating income" in the consolidated statements of income for the previous fiscal year has been reclassified as "interest income."

"Surrender value of insurance policies," which was presented as a separate item under "non-operating income" in the previous fiscal year, is included in "other" in the current fiscal year because the amount is no longer material. To reflect this change in presentation, reclassification has been made to the consolidated financial statements for the previous fiscal year.

As a result, 26 million yen, which was presented as "surrender value of insurance policies" under "non-operating income" in the consolidated statement of income for the previous fiscal year, has been reclassified as "other."

"Foreign exchange losses," which was presented as a separate item under "non-operating expenses" in the previous fiscal year, is included in "other" in the current fiscal year because the amount is no longer material. To reflect this change in presentation, reclassification has been made to the consolidated financial statements for the previous fiscal year.

As a result, 15 million yen, which was presented as "foreign exchange losses" under "non-operating expenses" in the consolidated statement of income for the previous fiscal year, has been reclassified as "other."

(Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows)

"Surrender value of insurance policies," which was presented as a separate item under "net cash provided by (used in) operating activities" in the previous fiscal year, is included in "other" in the current fiscal year because the amount is no longer material. To reflect this change in presentation, reclassification has been made to the consolidated financial statements for the previous fiscal year.

As a result, in the consolidated statements of cash flows for the previous fiscal year, the amount of negative 26 million yen presented in "surrender value of insurance policies" under "cash flows from operating activities" has been reclassified as "other."

(Financial instruments)

1. Matters Concerning the Status of Financial Instruments

(1) Policy for financial instruments

The Group's approach to financial instruments is to limit fund management to short-term deposits, etc., and to procure funds through bank loans, etc.

(2) Description of financial instruments and their risks

Trade receivables, such as notes receivable - trade and accounts receivable - trade, are exposed to customer credit risk.

Investment securities consist primarily of shares in companies with which the Company has business relationships and investments in investment partnerships, and are subject to market price volatility and issuer credit risk.

Deposits and guarantees are mainly deposits and guarantees that the Company places with lenders for the use of leased properties for new sales offices, and are exposed to the credit risk of the lenders.

Corporate income tax, inhabitant tax (prefectural and municipal) tax, enterprise tax, and consumption tax payable are all due and payable within two months of the balance sheet date.

Accounts payable - other and accounts payable - trade, which are trade payables, are due within one year and mainly relate to domestic transactions.

Short-term borrowings are mainly for short-term working capital, and long-term borrowings are mainly for capital expenditures.

In addition, trade payables and borrowings are exposed to liquidity risk.

(3) Risk Management System for Financial Instruments

(i) Management of credit risk (risk related to nonperformance by counterparties)

For trade receivables (notes receivable - trade and accounts receivable - trade), the Company manages due dates and outstanding balances by counterparty and monitors the credit status of each counterparty.

The balance of security deposits and guarantee money is managed by the Company for each counterparty, and efforts are made to monitor the credit status of each counterparty.

(ii) Management of market risk (risk of fluctuations in foreign exchange rates, interest rates, etc.)

For investment securities, the Company periodically monitors the market value and financial conditions of the issuing entity (counterparty company).

(iii) Management of liquidity risk (risk of being unable to make payments on due dates) related to fund procurement

The Group has a cash management system in place, which is managed by the parent company through methods such as the preparation of a group-wide cash management plan. In addition, the Company has overdraft and commitment line agreements with correspondent banks, which enable the Company to flexibly procure funds.

(4) Supplementary Explanation on Matters Concerning Fair Value, etc. of Financial Instruments

The calculation of the fair value of financial instruments includes values based on market prices and, in the absence of market prices, reasonably estimated values. Since certain assumptions, etc., are used in the calculation of such value, such value may vary if different assumptions, etc., are used.

2. Fair value of financial instruments

Consolidated balance sheet amount, fair value and their differences are as follows.

Previous fiscal year (March 31, 2025)

	Amount shown on consolidated balance sheet (millions of yen)	Fair value (millions of yen)	Difference (millions of yen)

3. Matters concerning the breakdown of the fair value of financial instruments by level

The fair value of financial instruments is classified into the following three levels based on the observability and materiality of the inputs used to calculate fair value.

Level 1 fair value: Fair value calculated based on (unadjusted) quoted market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities

Level 2 fair value: Fair value calculated using directly or indirectly observable inputs other than Level 1 inputs

Level 3 fair value: Fair value calculated using significant unobservable inputs

When multiple inputs that have a significant impact on the calculation of fair value are used, fair value is classified to the level with the lowest priority in the calculation of fair value among the levels to which each of those inputs belongs.

Investment securities

Listed stocks are valued using quoted market prices. Since listed stocks are traded in active markets, their fair value is classified as Level 1 fair value.

Notes receivable - trade, accounts receivable - trade and leasehold and guarantee deposits

The fair value of these assets is calculated using the discounted present value method based on the amount of the loan, the period to maturity, and the interest rate that takes into account credit risk for each loan classified by a certain period of time, and is classified as Level 2 fair value.

Accounts payable – trade, short-term borrowings, accounts payable – other, accrued income taxes, and accrued consumption taxes accounts payable - other

The fair value of these liabilities is calculated using the discounted present value method based on the future cash flows of each debt classified by a certain period and an interest rate that takes into account the period until the due date and credit risk, and is classified as Level 2 fair value.

Long-term borrowings

The fair value of these liabilities is determined using the discounted present value method based on the sum of the principal and interest, plus an interest rate that takes into account the remaining term of the debt and credit risk, and is classified as Level 2 fair value.

[Notes]

(Significant accounting policies)

1. Valuation standards and methods for assets

Marketable securities

(1) Shares of subsidiaries and affiliates

Stated at cost determined by the moving-average method.

(2) Available for sale securities

Stocks and other securities with no market price

Mainly stated at cost determined by the moving-average method. Furthermore, with regard to investments in investment partnerships, we use the most recent financial statements as a basis and adjust the value of investment securities by the amount corresponding to our equity interest, treating this as investment income or loss from the investment partnership.

2. Depreciation method for non-current assets

(1) Property, plant and equipment (excluding leased assets)

The straight-line method is mainly used.

The main useful lives are as follows:

Buildings and structures	3-50 years
Tools, furniture and fixtures	2-17 years

(2) Intangible assets (excluding leased assets)

The straight-line method is used.

Software for internal use is amortized over the estimated useful life (five years).

(3) Leased assets

Leased assets related to finance lease transactions that do not transfer ownership

The straight-line method is used, where the lease period is deemed as the useful life of the asset and the residual value is set as zero.

3. Basis for reserves

(1) Allowance for doubtful accounts

The allowance for doubtful accounts is provided for possible losses on accounts receivable, loans receivable and other receivables. The allowance for doubtful accounts is provided for general receivables based on historical default rates, and for specific receivables for which there is some concern regarding collectability, an estimated uncollectible amount is provided for each individual account.

(2) Provision for bonuses

To provide for the payment of bonuses to employees, an amount accrued for the current fiscal year is recorded based on the estimated amount of bonus payments.

(3) Allowance for retirement benefits

(i) Method of attributing estimated retirement benefits to periods of service

In calculating the retirement benefit obligation, the estimated amount of retirement benefits is attributed to the period up to the end of the current fiscal year based on the benefit calculation method.

(ii) Method of amortizing actuarial gains and losses

Actuarial gains and losses are amortized by the straight-line method over a fixed number of years (eight years) within the average remaining service period of employees at the time of occurrence of each fiscal year, with the amount prorated from the following fiscal year of occurrence.

(4) Allowance for loss on business of subsidiaries and affiliates

To provide for possible business losses of subsidiaries and affiliates, an allowance is provided for the estimated amount of losses that the Company will incur in excess of the amount of its investment in the subsidiaries and affiliates.

4. Basis for recording revenues and expenses

The Company's revenues consist of management guidance fees and business management fees from subsidiaries. For management guidance fees and operational management fees, the Company recognizes revenues based on the provision of contracted services to subsidiaries over the contract period, as the performance obligation is satisfied over a certain period through the provision of contracted services to the subsidiaries.

5. Other important matters that serve as the basis for the preparation of financial statements

Translation of significant assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies into Japanese yen
 Monetary receivables and payables denominated in foreign currencies are translated into yen at the spot exchange rate prevailing at the end of the fiscal year, with translation differences recognized as gains or losses.

(Significant accounting estimates)

Impairment loss on investments in subsidiaries and affiliates

(1) Amount recorded in the financial statements for the current fiscal year

(Unit: millions of yen)

	Previous fiscal year	Current fiscal year
Shares of subsidiaries and affiliates	4,505	4,594
Allowance for loss on business of subsidiaries and affiliates	329	49
Loss on valuation of stocks of subsidiaries and affiliates	-	-
Provision for loss on business of subsidiaries and affiliates	19	-
Reversal of loss on business of subsidiaries and affiliates	-	279

(2) Other information that contributes to the understanding of financial statement users

(i) Calculation Method

For stocks of subsidiaries and affiliates that do not have quoted market prices, the Company compares the actual value of the stock with the cost of acquisition. If the actual value of the stock declines significantly, the Company reduces the value of the stock by a reasonable amount, unless the recoverability of the stock is supported by sufficient evidence, in which case the amount of the decline is recognized as a loss on valuation of stocks of subsidiaries and affiliates.

In particular, shares of affiliated companies (totaling 3,145 million yen) related to affiliated companies acquired through M&A are valued based on the excess earning power calculated by enterprise value measurement at the time of acquisition of such companies to the actual value. The existence of damage to excess earning capacity is determined by confirming the achievement of operating profit and future cash flows based on future business plans. As of the end of the current fiscal year, the Company believes that its excess earning capacity is not impaired.

In the event that the estimated amount of losses to be incurred by the Company for an affiliated company exceeds the amount of claims against the company, an allowance for loss on business of the affiliated company is provided for the excess amount of losses.

(ii) Key Assumptions

The main assumption in each company's future business plan is that sales will be derived from maintaining and increasing the number of contracts for maintenance and repair services, etc., through enhanced sales activities.

(iii) Effect on the financial statements of the following fiscal year

The key assumption, sales in each company's future business plan, is subject to estimation uncertainty, and there is a risk that this could materially affect the decision to value the shares of affiliated companies.

(Change in accounting policy)

Not applicable.

(Change in the basis of presentation)

(Statements of income)

<Financial statement audit>

Audit Opinion

In order to perform the audit certification pursuant to the provisions of Article 193, Paragraph 2, Item 1 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act, we have audited the consolidated financial statements of Japan Elevator Service Holdings Co., Ltd. for the fiscal year from April 1, 2025 to March 31, 2026, namely, the consolidated balance sheets, the consolidated statements of income, the consolidated statements of comprehensive income, the consolidated statements of changes in net assets, the consolidated statements of cash flows, the basic significant matters for preparing the consolidated financial statements, other notes, and the consolidated supplementary schedules, which are presented in the "Financial Statements and Supplementary Data."

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Japan Elevator Service Holdings Co., Ltd. and consolidated subsidiaries as of March 31, 2026, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in Japan.

Basis for Audit Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in Japan. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements based on our audit. In accordance with the provisions governing professional ethics in Japan (including those applicable to audits of financial statements of entities with a significant social impact), our firm is independent of the Company and its consolidated subsidiaries and has fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities as auditors. We believe that we have obtained sufficient and appropriate audit evidence on which to base our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit considerations are those matters that, in the auditor's professional judgment, are of particular importance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements for the current fiscal year. The major audit considerations are those matters that were addressed in the course of performing the audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole and in forming our audit opinion, and we do not express an opinion on those matters individually.

Year-end valuation of Goodwill recorded as a result of M&A
Details of major audit considerations and reasons for decisions	Audit Responses
The company has recorded 1,618 million on consolidated balance sheets and goodwill as of March 31, 2026, which amounts to 4% of total assets. The company is engaged primarily in the maintenance business for elevators and other equipment, and in recent years has used M&A to strengthen its business, resulting in a large amount of goodwill. As described in the notes to the consolidated financial statements under (Significant accounting estimates), the Company monitors the achievement of operating profits and future cash flows based on each company's future business plans prepared at the time of acquisition to identify signs of impairment. If signs of impairment are identified, the Company assesses whether an impairment loss should be recognized; for any goodwill determined to require recognition of an impairment loss, the Company reduces its carrying amount to the recoverable amount and records the resulting decrease as an impairment loss. Because the assessment of indicators of impairment of goodwill involves management's subjective judgment, our audit firm determined that the assessment of indicators of impairment of goodwill was a key audit matter.	In reviewing goodwill's determination of an indication of impairment as a result of mergers and acquisitions, we primarily performed the following audit procedures <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In order to evaluate the design and operation of internal controls over the determination of indications of impairment losses at goodwill, we reviewed relevant vouchers and questioned internal control personnel. • Sales and segment income/loss figures in the business plans of each M&A subsidiary were compared with the sales and segment income/loss figures for the current consolidated fiscal year to assess the degree to which targets were met. • In order to examine the continuity of each M&A subsidiary's Operating profit after deduction of Goodwill amortization expenses, we analyzed the financial information of each company and asked questions of the management regarding the subsidiary's current fiscal year status and future business environment and risk factors. • In the event of an intra-group reorganization (merger of an M&A subsidiary with an established subsidiary), we questioned management regarding the reasons for such reorganization and examined the impact of such reorganization on the recoverable amount of goodwill. • The M&A team reviewed the minutes of the meetings of the M&A subsidiaries and questioned management and company personnel to determine whether any of the subsidiaries showed signs of a deteriorating business environment.

Other Descriptions

Other information included in the annual report, other than the consolidated financial statements and financial statements and the audited reports thereon. Management is responsible for preparing and disclosing other statements. In addition, the Audit & Supervisory Board and its members are responsible for monitoring the directors' performance of their duties in the development and operation of other stated reporting processes.

Our audit opinion on the consolidated financial statements does not include any other description, and we express no opinion on any other description.

Our responsibility in the audit of the consolidated financial statements is to read the other information carefully and, in the course of that reading, to consider whether there are material differences between the other information and the consolidated financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, and to pay attention to whether there are any indication of material errors in the other information other than such material differences. In addition to such material differences, we also pay attention to whether there are any other indications of material errors in the other statements.

If, based on the work we have performed, we determine that there are material errors in the other entries, we are required to report those facts.

We have no other matters to report.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for evaluating whether it is appropriate to prepare the consolidated financial statements on a going concern basis and for disclosing any matters related to going concern that are required to be disclosed in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Japan. The Company is responsible for the disclosure of such matters.

The Audit & Supervisory Board and its members are responsible for monitoring the directors' performance of their duties in the development and operation of the financial reporting process.

The auditor is responsible for obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free of material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, based on the audit performed by the auditor, and for expressing an opinion on the consolidated financial statements that is independent in its audit report. A misstatement is considered to be material if it could have been caused by fraud or error and, individually or in the aggregate, could reasonably be expected to affect the decisions of users of the consolidated financial statements.

The auditor shall exercise professional judgment throughout the audit process in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted as fair and appropriate in Japan, and shall maintain professional skepticism and

- Conclude whether it is appropriate for management to prepare the consolidated financial statements on a going concern basis and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether there are material uncertainties regarding events or conditions that might cast significant doubt on the entity's ability to continue as a going concern. If a material uncertainty regarding the entity's ability to continue as a going concern exists, the auditor is required to draw attention in the auditor's report to the notes to the consolidated financial statements or, if the notes to the consolidated financial statements are not appropriate with respect to the material uncertainty, to express an opinion with qualifications on the consolidated financial statements. In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Japan Elevator Service Holdings Co., Ltd. as of March 31, 2026, and the results of its operations for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in Japan.

Basis for Audit Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in Japan. Our responsibility in auditing standards is described in "Auditor's Responsibility in an Audit of Financial Statements." Key Audit Matters

Key audit considerations are those matters that the auditor, as a professional expert, considered to be of particular importance in the audit of the financial statements for the period under review. The major audit considerations are those matters addressed in the course of performing the audit of the financial statements as a whole and in forming our audit opinion, and we do not express an opinion on those matters individually.

Valuation of shares of affiliated companies acquired through M&A
Details of major audit considerations and reasons for decisions	Audit Responses
The company is a holding company, and as of March 31, 2026, it has 4,594 million yen of stocks of subsidiaries on its balance sheet. The amount is equivalent to 18% of total assets, the majority of which are shares in subsidiaries acquired through M&A. Shares of affiliates acquired through mergers and acquisitions include non-marketable shares and other shares acquired to reflect excess earning power. As described in the notes to the financial statements (under Significant accounting estimates), when assessing whether an impairment loss should be recognized for shares of affiliated companies, the Company compares the acquisition cost with the fair value reflecting excess earning power. It focuses on whether the excess earning power anticipated at the time of acquisition will be realized over the period during which it is expected to be effective, and verifies the achievement of operating income and future cash flows set forth in the future business plans approved by management. With regard to determining whether the fair value in question includes excess earning power, since this involves management's subjective judgment-just as with the goodwill arising from M&A transactions recorded on the consolidated balance sheet-our audit firm determined that assessing whether there has been any impairment of the excess earning power of the shares in affiliated companies acquired through M&A transactions constitutes a key audit matter.	In considering the valuation of the shares of affiliated companies acquired through mergers and acquisitions, we primarily performed the following audit procedures <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In order to evaluate the design and operation of internal control over the valuation of stocks of subsidiaries and affiliates, we reviewed relevant vouchers and asked questions to the persons in charge of internal control. • The excess earning power contained in the shares of affiliated companies is recorded on consolidated balance sheets as goodwill. • The audit responses to goodwill's assessment were the audit responses described in the Key Audit Considerations of the Independent Auditor's Report on the Consolidated Financial Statements.

1 [Matters Concerning the Basic Framework for Internal Control over Financial Reporting]

Katsushi Ishida, President and Representative Director CEO, and Kimihiko Imamura, Director, Deputy President CFO, General Manager of Business Management Headquarters, are responsible for the establishment and operation of internal control over financial reporting of the Company, its consolidated subsidiaries and equity method affiliates (hereinafter referred to as “the Group”). The Group designs and operates internal control over financial reporting (internal control over financial reporting) in accordance with the basic framework for internal control set forth in the "Revisions of Standards for Management Assessment and Audit of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting and Implementation Standards for Management Assessment and Audit of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting (Opinion)" issued by the Business Accounting Deliberation Council.

Since internal control attempts to achieve its objectives to a reasonable extent by organically linking and integrally functioning each basic element of internal control, it is possible that misstatements in financial reports may not be completely prevented or detected by internal control over financial reporting.

2 [Matters Related to the Scope of Valuation, Base Date and Valuation Procedures]

The evaluation of internal control over financial reporting was conducted with a base date of March 31, 2026, the end of the current fiscal year, and in making the evaluation, the Company followed generally accepted standards for evaluating internal control over financial reporting.

In this assessment, we evaluate internal controls that have a significant impact on the overall financial reporting on a consolidated basis (company-wide internal controls), and then select business processes to be evaluated based on the results of the evaluation. In assessing the business process, we evaluated the effectiveness of internal control by analyzing the selected business process, identifying key control points that have a significant impact on the reliability of financial reporting, and evaluating the design and operation of those key control points.

The scope of the assessment of internal control over financial reporting was determined for the Group as necessary from the perspective of the materiality of its impact on the reliability of financial reporting. The materiality of the effects on the reliability of financial reporting was determined by considering the significance of monetary and qualitative effects as well as the possibility of occurrence, and the scope of assessment of internal control over business processes was reasonably determined based on the results of the assessment of company-wide internal control conducted for the Company and its 14 consolidated subsidiaries.

With regard to the scope of assessment of internal control over business processes, the Company confirmed the sales of each business base (after elimination of inter-company transactions) and selected "important business bases" on the basis that they are included in approximately two-thirds of consolidated sales. The Group operates as a single segment in the maintenance business, providing maintenance, repair, and modernization services for elevators and other equipment. Given the homogeneity of this business, we evaluated six business locations selected based on their revenue scale and risk profile. At these selected key business locations, since our Group operates the maintenance business providing maintenance, repair, and renovation services for elevators and other equipment, we focused our evaluation on business processes related to revenue, accounts receivable, and inventory—accounting items closely tied to the Group’s business objectives. Furthermore, regardless of the selected key business locations, we have expanded the scope to include other business locations as well. Given the high likelihood of material misstatements and the need for estimates and forecasts, we have added business processes related to significant accounts—such as the securities valuation process and the fixed asset impairment process—to the scope of our evaluation. Additionally, we have included business processes related to operations or activities involving high-risk transactions as significant business processes in our evaluation, taking into account their impact on financial reporting.

3 [Matters Related to Evaluation Results]

As a result of the above evaluation, we concluded that the Group's internal control over financial reporting was effective as of the end of the current fiscal year.

There is nothing to be added.
