2. Reasons

The Company considers the stable shareholder returns and the securing of management resources for future growth to be one of its most important management priorities. Accordingly, it has set the total payout ratio as an indicator of shareholder return, taking into consideration its overall profitability and financial condition. Under the shareholder return policy of the medium-term management plan “VISION 2025,” which remained in effect through the fiscal year ended March 2026, the Company provided stable returns to shareholders by maintaining a total return ratio of approximately 30-40%, through performance-based dividends and flexible share buybacks. In accordance with this policy, the Company have set the year-end dividend for the fiscal year ended March 2026 at 12 yen per share (ordinary dividend).

In the new medium-term management plan “VISION 2030,” announced on May 1, 2026, the Company have raised the upper limit of the total return ratio and set a target range of 30-45%. Under this new policy, while striving to improve its business performance and financial position, the Company increased the annual dividend forecast for the fiscal year ending March 2027 by 2 yen to 20 yen per share (interim dividend: 10 yen, year-end dividend: 10 yen).
