2. Reason for revision

Regarding the full-year consolidated financial forecasts for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2026, net sales and operating profit have progressed as expected. However, due in part to the impact of the yen’s depreciation, the results for the third quarter included higher-than-expected foreign exchange gains, and as a result, ordinary profit exceeded the full-year financial forecast announced on November 11, 2025. In light of this, as a result of reviewing the full-year financial forecasts, we have revised our consolidated financial forecasts for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2026, which were announced on November 11, 2025.

The average exchange rate for the fourth quarter, which serves as a precondition for the consolidated financial forecast, has been revised from 145 yen to 154 yen per US dollar.

There are no changes to the dividend forecast at this time from the content previously announced.
