2. Reasons for revision

Heiwa Real Estate formulated the medium-term management plan "WAY 2040 Stage 1" (FY2024–FY2026) in April 2024 and has been pursuing the key strategies of expanding the redevelopment business, cultivating profit growth while enhancing capital efficiency, boosting social value, and strengthening business foundations. On January 31, 2025, the Company issued a release entitled "Initiatives to Further Advance Management Conscious of the Cost of Capital and the Company's Stock Price" in which, after accelerating the reduction of cross-shareholdings, Heiwa Real Estate announced updated quantitative targets and planned annual dividend per share in FY2026. Today, the Company announced the upward revision of full-year consolidated earnings forecasts for FY2025, due to expectations for higher office and hotel revenue in the Building Business and asset management revenue in the Asset Management Business as the Company has progressed the aforementioned initiatives. (For details, see the release dated January 30, 2026 entitled "Notice of Revision to Full-Year Financial Results Forecast and Upward Revision to Planned Dividend.") Heiwa Real Estate expects consolidated earnings to remain strong in FY2026 and has therefore upwardly revised the quantitative targets in FY2026, the final year of the medium-term management plan.
