Notice Concerning Certification of Asset Management Company as a 2026 Certified Health & Productivity Management Organization (small- and medium-scale corporation sector)

NTT Urban Development Asset Management Corporation (“UDAM”), the asset management company of NTT UD REIT Investment Corporation (“NUD”), hereby announces that it has been recognized as a 2026 Certified Health & Productivity Management Organization (small- and medium-scale corporation sector) under the Certified Health & Productivity Management Organizations Recognition Program.

1. Certified Health & Productivity Management Organizations Recognition Program

This Recognition Program recognizes large enterprises, SMEs, and other organizations that are engaged in particularly impressive health management, based on initiatives aimed at addressing health-related issues in communities and improving health, led by the Nippon Kenko Kaigi (Japan Health Council). For further details, please refer to the following.

- * METI's this program website (Japanese)

- * "ACTION! Healthy Management" website of KENKO Investment for Health
<https://kenko-keiei.jp/en/>
- * Nippon Kenko Kaigi is an organization established to conduct effective activities through collaboration among private organizations and with the full support of the government. Its purpose is to extend the healthy life expectancy of every citizen and ensure appropriate medical care in Japan, where the aging population and declining birthrate are rapidly advancing.

2. Initiatives on Health Management at UDAM

UDAM prioritizes the health of its officers and employees. We strive to maintain and improve participation rates by providing subsidies for regular health checkups and comprehensive medical examinations. Furthermore, we implement initiatives to create a healthy and comfortable working environment for each individual, including providing a pleasant workplace and establishing leave and work systems tailored to different life stages.
