Also, the Company has appointed personnel with substantial experience and high degree of expertise as directors and other officers of its subsidiary group companies, and delegated operational powers to them. This enables the Company and its subsidiaries to operate functionally and effectively.

As part of the preventive “Risk Management” function, the Company has established risk management cycles (i.e., risk identification → analysis → assessment → examine and implementation of countermeasures → monitoring) aimed at minimizing risks, and applies these cycles across the Group. For the “Crisis Management” function, which deals with materialized risks, the Company has prepared the “Crisis Management Manual (CMM)” describing responsive systems for the entire Group. The Company has also drawn up the “Emergency Response Manual (ERM)” as a manual subordinated to the CMM, in order to respond in particular to any crisis that may affect aircraft operations directly. Based on the ERM, the Company has conducted practical emergency drills for aircraft accidents and similar incidents annually since 2002. The Company held accident drills twice during the Fiscal Year.

2) Business continuity management (BCM)

The Company has established the “ANA Group Basic Business Continuity Policy” covering all hazards as a policy subordinated to the CMM, in order to prepare for large-scale disasters and threats. The policy is designed “not to address limited types of disaster only,” “not to cause interruptions in significant businesses,” and “to establish a process for ongoing improvement where a plan is developed in advance, implemented, and reviewed,” and the respective companies in the Group have developed a business continuity plan (BCP) in line with the said Basic Policy. Furthermore, the Company promotes a business continuity management (BCM) aimed at ongoing improvement, and, to strengthen its preparedness for natural disasters such as major earthquakes so that it can respond promptly in the event of an emergency, it conducts various disaster response drills for staff in charge of BCP in the respective companies in the Group and the disaster prevention e-learning for all Group directors and employees every year. Separately, ALL NIPPON AIRWAYS CO., LTD., a subsidiary of the Company, has been designated as a “designated public institution” by the Prime Minister of Japanese Government under the Basic Act on Disaster Management since March 2026. For cloud security measures, the Company has established system standardization guidelines and adopted a secure-by-design approach (incorporating security measures from the planning and design stages) to implement mechanisms that ensure security from the outset of cloud system development, and the Company also takes measures to continuously monitor whether cloud settings are properly configured during operations. With respect to vulnerability management, as advanced AI technologies have in recent years come to be able to identify system vulnerabilities, the Company has introduced and begun operating tools that enable it to detect vulnerabilities in a timely manner. - b. Accrued bonuses to employees: Provisions are estimated for bonus payments for employees of the Company.
- c. Accrued corporate executive officers’ retirement benefits: To prepare for benefit expenditures for allowances for the corporate executive officers, the payment amount required at the end of the fiscal year is recorded in accordance with the regulations for retirement benefits for corporate executive officers.

(iv) Accounting standards for recognition of revenue and expense

The Group (ANA HOLDINGS INC. and its consolidated subsidiaries) recognizes revenue when (or as) it satisfies a performance obligation by transferring promised goods or services (i.e. an asset) to a customer. An asset is transferred when (or as) the customer obtains control of that asset. The Group recognizes as revenue the amount expected to be received upon Air Transportation, Airline Related, Travel Services, Trade and Retail, and Others.

The Group recognize revenue based on the 5-step approach.

STEP1: Identify the Contract with a Customer

STEP2: Identify the Performance Obligations

STEP3: Determine the Transaction Price

STEP4: Allocate the Transaction Price to the Obligations

STEP5: Recognize revenue when the Obligations is satisfied

The details of the main performance obligations and the normal points of time for recognizing revenue in major services are as follows.

a. Air Transportation

Passenger revenue

Revenue is earned mainly from passenger transportation services by air. The Group is obliged to provide international and domestic air transportation services to customers based on the terms of carriage, etc., and revenue is recognized when the transportation services are provided. The consideration for sales transaction is subject to change because the Group may carry out sales discounts and pay rebates according to sales performance. In addition, transaction consideration is usually received prior to the fulfillment of performance obligations.

Cargo and Mail revenue

Revenue is earned mainly from cargo and mail transportation services. The Group is obliged to provide cargo and mail transportation services for international and domestic flights based on the conditions of carriage, etc., and revenue is recognized when the transportation services are provided. For sales, the Group pays the rebate according to the sales performance. Therefore, the consideration for the transaction may fluctuate. In addition, the consideration for the transaction is received after the completion of the air transportation service of cargo and mail.

Others

The Group operates the membership program “ANA Mileage Club”. This program awards points (miles, sky-coin, etc.) to member customers depending on the use of our flights and the services of partner companies, and the miles awarded can be redeemed for goods and services provided by the Group or partner companies. The main element of points is miles, which separately identify performance obligations as an option to purchase additional goods or services in the future. As a result, the transaction price allocated to the miles is recognized as a contract liability at the time the miles are granted, and the revenue is recognized when the goods or services exchanged for the miles are used or when the miles expire. The transaction price is allocated based on the proportion of the independent selling price for each performance obligation included in the contract, and the independent selling price of miles is estimated by taking into account the composition ratio of goods and services that the customers select when using miles and the expected to expire.

b. Airline Related

The Group is obliged to provide services such as airport ground support services, aircraft maintenance and system development that accompany air transportation based on contracts with air carriers. Revenue is recognized mainly over a certain period of time as the service is provided.

- c. Travel Services Revenue is earned from planning and sales of domestic and overseas travel. The Group plans travel products based on standard travel agency agreements. And the Group has an itinerary management obligation to arrange for travelers to receive transportation, accommodation and other travel services. Revenue is recognized over a certain period of time as the service is provided. Transaction consideration is primarily received prior to fulfilling performance obligations.
- d. Trade and Retail Revenue is earned from import/export of aviation-related materials, shops and mail-order, etc. Revenue is recognized when the Group fulfills performance obligations primarily by delivery goods to customers.
- e. Others Revenue is earned from building management dispatching, and personnel training business, etc. Revenue is recognized over a period of time as the service is provided.
- (v) Accounting for deferred assets
- a. Bond issuance cost: Bond issuance cost is amortized by the straight-line method over the redemption period of the corporate bonds.
- b. Share issuance cost: Share issuance cost is amortized by the straight-line method over 3 years.
- (vi) Standards for translation of significant foreign-currency-denominated assets or liabilities into Japanese yen
All monetary receivables and payables denominated in foreign currencies are translated into Japanese yen at the exchange rates prevailing at the fiscal year end. The foreign currency exchange gain or loss from translation is recognized in the consolidated statement of income.
All assets and liabilities of foreign subsidiaries and affiliates are translated into Japanese yen at the exchange rates prevailing at the fiscal year end. Revenues and expenses for the year are translated into Japanese yen at the average exchange rate during the year, and translation adjustments are included in Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income in the balance sheet.
- (vii) Significant method of hedge accounting
- a. Method of hedge accounting: Deferred hedge accounting is adopted. However, the allocation method is applied to receivables and payables denominated in foreign currencies with foreign exchange forward contracts, etc. A special accounting treatment has been adopted for interest rate swaps which meet accounting requirements.
- b. Hedging instruments and hedged items:
Hedging instruments:
Derivative transactions (mainly forward exchange contracts, interest rate swaps, commodity swaps, and commodity options)
Hedged items:
Loans, aviation fuel, foreign-currency-denominated forecasted transactions denominated in foreign currencies.
- c. Hedging policy: The Company and its consolidated subsidiaries enter into derivative transactions to hedge risks arising from the fluctuation in foreign currency exchange rates, interest rates, and commodities in accordance with their internal management rules, which provide for transaction authority and limits on transaction amounts, and do not enter into derivative transactions for speculative or trading purposes.
- d. Evaluation of effectiveness of hedging transactions: The assessment of hedge effectiveness is examined at inception and, on an ongoing basis, periodically by comparing the cumulative changes in cash flows from, or the changes in fair value of, hedged items with the corresponding changes in the hedging instruments.
However, the evaluation of effectiveness is omitted for interest swaps which are accounted for by special treatment.

- (viii) Matters concerning the amortization of goodwill
Goodwill is evenly amortized over 15 years from the year of accrual.
- (ix) Accounting methods for retirement benefits
  - a. Accounting method to allocate the projected retirement benefit obligations: In calculating retirement benefit obligations, the benefit formula basis is used to allocate the projected retirement benefits until the end of the current fiscal year.
  - b. Accounting method for actuarial gains and losses and prior service costs: Prior service costs are amortized as incurred by the straight-line method over a certain period which is less than the average remaining service years of eligible employees.
Actuarial gains and losses are amortized from the subsequent fiscal year in which the gain or loss is recognized by the straight-line method over a certain period which is less than the average remaining service years of employees at the time of recognition.

(Significant accounting estimates)

- (1) Recoverability of deferred tax assets
  - (i) Amount recorded in consolidated financial statements

Deferred tax assets	¥144,358 million

- (ii) Other information of accounting estimates

In the current fiscal year, deferred tax assets of ¥144,358 million related to tax loss carryforwards, etc. are recorded.

The Company and certain domestic consolidated subsidiaries apply the group tax sharing system. The corporations subject to the group tax sharing system make judgements on the recoverability based on the future taxable income, etc. of the entire tax sharing group with regard to corporate taxes (national taxes), and make judgements on the recoverability of deferred tax assets based on the future taxable income, etc. of each corporation with regard to local taxes. With respect to tax loss carryforwards, based on the estimated future taxable income, the Company schedule the expected year and amount to be deducted from tax loss carryforwards, and record the amount expected to be recovered as deferred tax assets.

Regarding the judgment on the recoverability of deferred tax assets for the entire tax sharing group, the estimate of future taxable income is based on the “Consolidated Earnings Forecast” for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2027 and the “FY2026-2028 ANA Group Medium-term Corporate Strategy”.

Changes in assumptions due to changes in the business environment and other factors may have a material impact on the consolidated financial statements in the following fiscal year and thereafter.

- (2) Revenue recognition of the Company’s point program

- (i) Amounts recorded in consolidated financial statements

Contract liability	¥191,108 million

- (ii) Other information of accounting estimates

The Group operates the membership program “ANA Mileage Club”. This program awards points (miles and sky-coin, etc.) to member customers depending on the use of our flights and the services of partner companies.

These points awarded individually identify performance obligations as an option for future purchase of additional goods or services provided by the Group or partner companies. The transaction price allocated to these points is recognized as a contract liability at the time the miles and sky-coin, etc., are granted, and the revenue is recognized when the goods or services exchanged for these points are used or when these points expire. The transaction price is allocated based on the proportion of the independent selling price for each performance obligation included in the contract, and the independent selling price of these points are estimated by taking into account the composition ratio of goods and services that the customers select when using the points and the expected to expire. This assumption is highly uncertain, and if the composition ratio of goods and services that customers select and the expected expiration amount are changed, it may have a significant impact on the consolidated financial statements for the following fiscal year or thereafter.

(3) The 3-level hierarchy for fair value measurements

The market value of financial instruments is classified into the following 3 levels according to the observability and importance of the inputs used to calculate the fair value.

LEVEL 1: Inputs to the valuation methodology are quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical assets or liabilities in active markets.

LEVEL 2: Market value calculated using directly or indirectly observable inputs other than Level 1 inputs.

LEVEL 3: Inputs to the valuation methodology, which are significant to the fair value measurement, are unobservable.

An investment’s categorization within the fair value hierarchy is based upon the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

(iii) Description of the valuation techniques and inputs used to determine fair values

AssetsInvestment securities

As shares are traded on active markets, the fair values are classified as Level 1. Fair values of bonds are calculated by the discounted cash flow method based on the estimated future cash flows and interest rates of appropriate indices, such as yields on government bonds, plus credit spread, etc. Since the impact of unobservable inputs on the fair values is significant, the fair values are classified as Level 3.

Derivative

The Company conducts derivative transactions such as fuel options and currency options. The fair values of derivatives are calculated using the discounted present value method using observable inputs such as interest rates, and are classified as level 2 fair values.

LiabilitiesBonds

Fair values of bonds issued by the Company are calculated based on the present value obtained by discounting the sum of their principal amounts and interest by the interest rate determined in light of the remaining period and the credit risk of the bonds, and classified as Level 2.

Convertible bonds with stock acquisition rights

Fair values of convertible bonds with stock acquisition rights issued by the Company are calculated based on the prices offered by financial institutions, and classified as Level 2.

Long-term debt

Fair values of long-term debt are based on the present value of the total of principal and interest discounted by the interest rate to be applied if similar new borrowings were entered into. Long-term debt with floating interest rates is subject to special treatment for interest rate swaps (see "Derivative" above), and the fair values are based on the present value of the total of principal and interest, which have been treated as a unit with such interest rate swaps, discounted by the reasonably estimated interest rate to be applied if similar new borrowings were entered into. Accordingly, the fair values are classified as Level 2. However, the fair values of some of the long-term debts are classified as Level 3 because the impact of unobservable inputs, such as contract terms and credit spread, on the fair values is significant.
