Submission of a Report on Recommendation for Business Improvement from the Electricity and Gas Market Surveillance Commission

Hokkaido Electric Power Company, Incorporated (the “Company”) compiled a report on the recommendation for business improvement received from the Electricity and Gas Market Surveillance Commission on July 23, and submitted it to the Commission today.

The recommendation for business improvement was made in response to the finding that the Company’s employees possessed and viewed materials prepared by Hokkaido Electric Power Network Company, Incorporated which contain non-public information,^{*1, 2} and used those materials in the Company’s power generation business operations.

The Company takes it seriously that our business operations may have shaken the very foundations of fair and impartial competition in the liberalized electricity market, and will make every effort to thoroughly prevent recurrence under its new monitoring and supervision system for compliance with laws and regulations such as regulations on conduct.

*1: Non-public information represents undisclosed information concerning the operations such as wheeling services and electricity quantity adjustment services by general electricity transmission and distribution utilities, which may affect electricity retail, electricity generation, or specified wholesale supply businesses.

*2: Under the Electricity Business Act, the Company, being a specified related business operator (an electricity retailer, electricity generation, or other businesses within the same group as a general electricity transmission and distribution utility) of Hokkaido Electric Power Network Company, Incorporated, is prohibited from using non-public information in its electricity retail, electricity generation, or other business operations, etc.
